KHAKI-CLAD HEROES GRIP HANDS, RECALL WAR DAYS

Rain Fails to Dampen Enthusiasm of Delegates to Legion Convention; Thrilling Deeds Recalled.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Oct. 29.—Rain, recalling to mind similar days in France, greeted the American Legionaires who arrived today to attend the national convention of the Legion, which opens Monday.

But the ties of friendship were stronger than mere physical comfort and on dozens of downtown street corners stood groups of khaki-clad heroes, oblivious to the downpour, living again the days of Chateau Thierry and the Argonne.

Here and there in the groups were seen men leaning on crutches or canes. To them the tales of thrilling days brought back especial memories, and frequently pale faces would light up with animation as one or another would call to mind some feat of heroism performed by "Yanks." Frequently members of a group would crowd their way aside to give a hug and a handshake to a new arrival.

WESTERNERS STAND OUT.

Particularly colorful was a western group of former service men who wore high boots, sombreros and flannel shirts of vivid hues.

The Treasury Department of the United States is accused of "delay in allocating the $18,600,000 appropriation for the construction of new hospitals for disabled veterans" in a statement issued tonight by Thomas Taylor, vice-chairman of the National Legislative Committee, which says that the question will be taken up by the convention and "the responsibility placed where it belongs."

Practical exclusion of the Japanese immigrant by a new international agreement based on mutual respect and reciprocal in nature is recommended in the report of the Legion's oriental committee, it was announced tonight.

JAPS UNASSIMILABLE.

The report, a statement by the committee says, is the result of "exhaustive investigations made at the direction of last year's convention."

Members of the Legion's oriental committee include Paul Edwards, Seattle, Wash., and J. N. Inman, Sacramento.

The report describes Japan's immigrants as "unassimilable." "The instances in which the Japanese in other countries have become assimilated," the report says, "are almost nonexistent."

"We find that in places where there has been a large influx of Japanese in proportion to other population, the Japanese, as citizens of Japan, incline to become dominant and certainly are a great detriment to the people originally inhabiting the country.

"The difference in the economic conditions and methods between the Japanese and the people now in the United States, is so diverse that it is bound to create even worse friction than it might in any other country where the conditions are more similar."

Declaring that sentiment in Pacific Coast States was found to be almost unalterably opposed to permitting naturalization of Japanese, the report says:

NEW AGREEMENT NEEDED.

"We feel strongly that the handling of this question is a matter that should be dealt with by the national government rather than by State governments and we believe that the State governments feel the situation themselves. We are sure it is a fundamental right of the United States to say who may, and may not, be immigrants.

"It seems to us clear that a new agreement should be made with Japan; that it should be reciprocal and based on a feeling of mutual respect and fairness. The right of acquiring and owning property by the nationals of each country in the other should be properly safeguarded and restricted in order that alien ownership may not furnish a basis of conflict between the two peoples.

"There should be permitted freedom for the nationals of each country to visit the other as tourists, scholars or visitors for pleasure or study, but we feel positive that at present it is both undesirable and impossible that there should be any intermingling on a large scale."

The report said that in view of the Washington conference, it felt it would "be injudicious for us to say anything that might embarrass our government."

CALIFORNIA IS PRESENT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Oct. 29.—George J. Hatfield of the California delegation arrived in Kansas City today to prepare for the arrival of the California delegation.

Mr. Hatfield is from San Francisco and said the delegation is after the convention for 1922.

In Mr. Hatfield's possession is a certified check for $60,000 from the convention bureau of San Francisco.

Mr. Hatfield said there is talk among the 150 that are coming of the candidacy of Charles Kendrick of San Francisco and Buron Fitts of Los Angeles for the office of grand commander.

Asked about resolutions to be introduced by the California delegation Mr. Hatfield said that he had no positive information as to their nature, but wherever Californians congregated you might accidentally find a resolution in regard to the Japanese questions.

Another of the early arrivals among the auxiliary delegates is Mrs. Carroll Marks of Los Angeles. Mrs. Marks is president of the California department. The auxiliary there is only ten months' old, but has more than 5000 members and 118 units.

The California auxiliary has a unique work in that that State receives more disabled soldiers than any other one place. Disabled service men are sent there at the rate of 1000 a month.

Prices Cut in San Francisco to Stimulate Construction; Unions Are Losers.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—Reductions in the prices of building materials in San Francisco "in keeping with recent wage reductions" were announced today by the Industrial Association of San Francisco. Lime was cut 60 cents a barrel, pressed brick $5 a thousand, four-inch hollow tile $59.50 a thousand, six-inch hollow tile $69 a thousand, fine brick $5 a thousand, roofing tile $4 a square, sewer pipe, flue linings and chimney linings, reduced 5 per cent, and common brick reduced $1 a thousand.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

NAPLES, Oct. 29.—Several persons were drowned and extensive property damage was caused by a flood of the River Sebeto, which flows through this city, on Thursday night. The inundation was caused by a severe storm lasting for twelve hours and a large portion of the lower sections of Naples was under water for several hours.

The storm did serious damage in the suburbs of this city, houses being destroyed, vineyards and crops washed out and cattle carried away.

AWARDS TUESDAY IN B-CONTEST.

Final Findings in Observation Puzzle Expected in Two Days.

The final meeting of the judges in The Times Observation Contest has been called for 2 o'clock Monday. Barring unforeseen circumstances they expect to be able to arrive at a decision on the winners in the famous B-Puzzle at this session and to announce the awards in The Times Tuesday morning. In the event that the final check in the monumental task requires a longer time than is now anticipated, the awards will be published the first possible minute thereafter.

For exactly a month a force of more than thirty expert clerks and checkers has been working night and day and all day Sundays to insure absolute accuracy in the mathematical basis upon which the awards will be made. More than 25,000 lists from all parts of the United States were received and a total of over 9,000,000 words were contained in them. From this some idea may be gained of the immensity of the task now practically completed.

LONG GRIND IS CERTAIN ON TARIFF.

Summer May See Passage of Bill; Valuation Plan is One Cause of Delay.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—With the resumption of tariff hearings by the Senate Finance Committee on November 1 Congress will settle down for an all winter grind on the revision of customs laws.

Although February 1 has been fixed as the date to which the emergency tariff expiring November 27 will be extended, no one seems to believe that Congress will complete the enactment of permanent tariff legislation by that date. The date was selected admittedly with a view to speeding up the progress of the permanent bill. When that date arrives Congress undoubtedly will pass a bill again extending the taime of the emergency tariff.

As matters now stand the perma-

TIES STRONG, SAYS BEATTY.

Noted British Admiral Sees Good from Conference, With Everlasting Friendship Between Nations.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Admiral Lord Beatty, the hero of Jutland, who turned back the German fleet and later received its surrender, said tonight at the dinner of the Pilgrim Society in the Waldorf-Astoria that he could not conceive of serious differences arising between England and the United States and that the suycces of the Disarmament Conference would depend upon the maintenance of good feeling between the nations of the world.

Speaking very slowly and with measured emphasis, the leader of the Allied fleets in the war said:

"Gentlemen, your doctrines, your beliefs, are about to be put to a test—a test which I firmly believe will prove how right your doctrines are.

"For my own part, I discount utterly the possibility of serious differences arising between our two countries—our every interest, our every instinct, binds us together."

RODMAN SPEAKS.

Admiral Rodman who, not only served under Admiral Beatty, but is his close personal friend, also vigorously emphasized the friendship between England and America, and said:

"There is no question in my mind that our two nations will always stand together and fight together."

Lord Beatty spoke of the coming convention of the American Legion, which he will attend and which would renew "that close friendship which was our strength in the great war."

The invitation of the Legion, he said, was warmly indorsed by the United States government and the British Foreign Office urged him to accept.

"I tell you this to indicate the importance which both governments attach to the work of the Legion in promoting the good feeling between us which we so earnestly desire," he said. "The governments of both countries extend their blessing and good will to this power for uniting the world in peace, a union based upon the sufferings and sacrifices of a world torn by four and a half years of war.

WORLD IS WATCHING.

"As to the conference, the least said at this juncture the better. The world will wait and watch with supreme interest its deliberations and decisions, and nowhere more so than in the British Empire, full of hope that the meeting of the representatives of the great countries of the world will, after frank and honest discussion, devise a formula—a means by which burdens which now fall upon nations will be reduced, thereby enabling them to re-establish and develop the industries of peace and contentment of mankind.

"Surely there was never a greater issue dependent upon the deliberations of men.

WIDE FIRE PLOT SEEN.

Blazes Start in Seven Places.

Arrests Made in Connection With Conflagrations in Mountain Districts.

Men Rushed to Fight Flames; Effort to Denude Range is Laid to Oil Hunters.

While every available man of the Los Angeles and Ventura forestry bureaus was fighting seven mountain fires yesterday in this county and on the Ventura line, officials began an inquiry to establish what they believe is a wholesale plot to burn off the brush and trees from the entire Malibu watershed. This, they think, is being done in search for oil-bearing rock. It would be an aid to prospectors, but a calamity to the community. Most of the fires were in districts that were threatened a few days ago, but which were saved then by the efforts of the fighters and rains.

Fire brings out the oil on such rock in a black, sticky smear and samples of this rock have been brought in. Prospecting of the range is made difficult by the heavy underbrush.

It is pointed out as a significant fact that three of the seven fires broke out across the county line in Ventura, presumably so that there would be delay in combating them.

NEWHALL THREATENED.

The town of Newhall and the postoffice station at Triunfo were threatened yesterday by separate fires.

"The worst fire, in point of volume of flame and rapidity of progress, which I have ever seen in Southern California is raging five miles north of the Decker ranch on the north exposure of the Malibu," was the telephone message received at forestry bureau headquarters in the Hall of Records from Chief Forester Flintham.

Charles Decker was arrested as a result of the fire in Trancas Canyon of a few days ago, on suspicion of incendiarism, and was fined $120. Several arrests were made yesterday but as far as the evidence shows those arrested merely had beenguilty of carelessness in lighting brush fires. A. Hart and his brother, C. F. Hart, ranchers near Newhall were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Hitchcock. They were released on thir own recognizance with instructions to appear Wednesday morning before Justice of the Peace Powell at Newhall. Both were charged with starting brush fires on their ranch without a permit.

WON'T HAVE TO WAIT TO MAKE BEER.

Treasury Department Rules Accumulated Stock May be Sold as Medicine.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Treasury Department officials declared today that brewers will be permitted to sell for medicinal purposes beer which they now have on hand.

Dry advocates have protested against the disposal of beer which has accumulated and have insisted that the beer to be disposed of under medicinal permits should be only that manufactured since the beer-and-medicine regulations were issued. Prohibition Commissioner Haynes also has had that opinion, and this is one of the points of difference between him and Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair.

Such a ruling as the drys propose would delay the sale of medicinal beer several weeks. Commissioner Blair has been advised by the solicitor of his department that the sale of accumulated beer is legal and a formal ruling is expected to be issued to that effect by Secretary Mellon Monday.

Quebec "Oasis" Takes Much Gold Into Province.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MONTREAL, Oct. 29.—Linking of the reports of two provincial officials today gave an idea of the financial value of an oasis like the Province of Quebec bordering a "dry" United States.

J. I. Perron, Minister of Roads, reported that this summer American tourists had spent $35,000,000 in the province.

Premier Tascherau estimated that profits from Quebec's government-controlled liquor stores would total $4,000,000 a year.

AMERICAN DELEGATES ARRANGE FOR AGENDA.

Hughes Calls Conference for Monday; Foreign Envoys Welcomed by Government Officials.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Washington is now beginning the active preliminary period to the Conference on Limitation of Armament to be participated in by the five great powers of the world and the discussion of problems of the Pacific and Far East menacing world peace, in which the five great powers will be joined by China, Belgium, the Netherlands and Portugal.

Beginning tomorrow members of the participating powers in the important conclave will be arriving daily until November 12, the day on which the first session of the conference will be held and when President Harding, originator of the conference, will address the delegates.

ENVOYS ARE WELCOMED.

A few of the delegates from abroad and many of the advisers and assistants to the principals have already reached Washington, but the coming week will be a social one devoted to the welcoming of arriving dignitaries and social functions in their honor.

Conferences of prominent foreigners will occur almost daily beginning tomorrow until November 12 when the Italian delegation will reach Washington. Tomorrow some of the Chinese dignitaries will arrive. A military escort will meet the principal delegate and the senior military and naval advisers of the various groups, a tentative schedule having been announced today as follows:

October 30, Chinese delegation; November 1, Italian delegation; November 2, Japanese delegation; November 7, Dutch delegation; November 8, French delegation; November 10, British delegation; November 10, Australian delegation; November 11, British delegation.

CHINESE LEADER GREETED.

Heading a large contingent of the Chinese delegation which reaches Washington tomorrow afternoon are Mr. Liang Juo-Hao, better known as M. T. Liang, adviser to the delegation, and Vice-Admiral Tsai Tiang-Kan, associate adviser. The party will be met at the station by Robert Woods Bliss, Third Assistant Secretary of State, on behalf of the State Department; Rear-Admiral C. S. Williams, for the Navy, and Brig.-Gen Brewster, representing the Army.

Secretary of State Hughes has called another meeting of the American delegation to the conference for Monday for further deliberations on the American plan for limitation of naval armaments, which will be submitted to the foreign delegations early in the discussions when the subject of limitation, first on the agenda, is reached.

President Harding is also expected to have ready for announcement by Monday the advisory commission to the American delegation which will consist of twelve experts on naval, military, financial, economic and other subjects vital to the conference It is reported that two women will be named on this commission.

MAY NAME PERSHING.

Gen. Pershing, it is stated, will be the military adviser. There is much speculation regarding the naval adviser and friends of Admiral Sims as president of the Naval College, have been insisting that he is the logical choice for this important post.

Foreign delegates and also press correspondents attending the Armament Limitation Conference would be guests of the nation on a tour of the country, including the Pacific Coast States, under a resolution introduced today by Senator Stanfield, Republican, Oregon, authorizing the Secretary of State to issue invitations for the proposed trip.

DANGER OF CONFLICT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—Unless the United States and Japan stop fortifying the South Pacific, a conflict between the two countries is inevitable, and for the sake of peace and harmony both countries should refuse to spend another cent for this purpose, declared Kotaro Mochizuki, a leader of the Kenseikai party in Japan, on his arrival here today on the Shinyo Maru, which brought several Japanese groups bound for the Washington conference.

"You should destroy your fortifications in Hawaii, the Philippines and Gaum, while we in turn should raze ours on Formosa and other island approaches to Japan," he said. "If that is impossible, let us at least stop where we are. God did not make the Pacific to be disturbed by conflict."

TO STUDY IMMIGRATION.

Viscount E. Shibusawa, heading the Japanese-American Relations Committee of Tokio, said the people of Japan felt the cause of humanity as well as the crushing burden of taxation demanded reduction of armaments. His party, returning the visit of the Frank Vanderlip party to Japan last year, will study immigration problems in California on their return from the Atlantic seaboard, he said.

The call for the Washington conference has made limitation of armaments practicable and even probable, according to E. Kimura of the Japanese Foreign Office, who said this object was the main one of the conference. Pacific and Far Eastern problems, he thought, were of secondary importance. Co-operation such as has been effected in the Chinese consortium is the master key to all the problems of the Far East, he stated.

ENVOYS REACH SEATTLE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE, Oct. 29.—The Japanese delegation to the Washington Conference on Limitation of Armaments and Far Eastern Questions, approach the conference "with full hope and confidence" in its success, they declared in a formal statement to the press issued just after their arrival here today on the liner Kashima Maru.

The statement reads in part:

"There is no denying that the heavy burden under which industry

NAVY RADIO TALKS WITH JAP STATION

Annapolis Operator Hears Signal From Iwaki, 11,000 Miles Distant.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The American Navy's powerful radio station at Annapolis, it was learned today, has been in direct communication with Japan, exchanging wireless signals with the powerful new Japanese station at Iwaki, 11,000 miles distant.

Listening in for reports from San Diego, the Navy's station on the Pacific Coast, an operator at a desk in the Navy Department here heard a call he at first thought was the one he had been waiting for. The signal was faint and the instrument tuned for San Diego's sound wave.

The operator discovered it was not San Diego calling. He began calling "Jaa" and almost instantly a reply came back in international code, saying "this is 'Jaa'. We hear strong. How do you hear us?"

The operator here replied that he heard "Jaa" call plainly and asked if "Jaa" had and news. A reply in the negative followed by several Japanese words flashed back. The Washington operator could not understand the words and then the connection was lost.

Naval experts were astounded that the connection was made and now attribute it to an atmospheric condition, as efforts made since to call Iwaki from here have failed.

File Briefs in Pickford-Moore Divorce Contest.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CARSON CITY, Oct. 29.—Opening briefs were filed today in the State Supreme Court by State Atty.-Gen. Fowler in the State's appeal from the findings of the lower court, which held valid the decree of divorce granted to Mary Pickford from Owen Moore.

Gavin McNab and P. A. McCarren, attorneys for Mary Pickford, now Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks, have fifteen days in which to file their answer.

It is the duty of the Attorney-General to "proceed in protecting the interests of the State," Mr. Fowler's brief declared, and adds that the trial court "apparently failed to read page 29 of the State's brief in the lower court," bearing on this point.

DEATH BLOW TO LEAGUE.

Defeat Conceded By Townleyites.

Nonpartisan Governor of North Dakota Recalled by Large Majority.

Other Independent Candidates Showing Corresponding Leads.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

FARGO (N. D.) Oct. 29.—Recall in yesterday's election of Gov. Frazier and two other State officials indorsed by the Nonpartisan League was conceded tonight by the Fargo Courier-News, official paper of the league in North Dakota.

This consession came after unofficial returns from approximately 1800 of the State's 2086 precincts had shown a majority of 13,000 for R. A. Nestos, Independent gubernatorial candidate.

CORRESPONDING LEADS.

Svenrbjorn Johnson, and Joseph A. Kitchen held corresponding leads respectively over Atty.-Gen. William Lemke and J. H. Hagen, Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor, the other two officials, whose recall is conceded.

Returns on the proposed constitutional amendments and the initiated laws were not tabulated as promptly as those on the candidates, but the prediction in both Independent and Nonpartisan camps was that although they would run behind the candidates, they would be in about the same ratio.

All the amendments and laws were indorsed by the Independents and opposed by the league. They have to do with changes in the election laws and liquidation of the State Bank of North Dakota.

DEFEAT CONCEDED.

"The Nonpartisan League has been defeated," the Courier-News will say in an editorial tomorrow. "The Independent victory is not so sweepinw that it can be counted upon as permanent, however."

State campaign headquarters of the league here and State officials had not conceded defeat up to 9 o'clock.

R. A. Nestos, independent candidate for Governor, was maintaining a diminishing lead over Gov. Frazier as additional returns came in tonight from the rural strongholds of the league in the western part of the State.

Returns on the gubernatorial contest from 1762 of the State's 2086 precincts, gave Nestos 105,034 votes and Frazier 91,939, an Independent lead of 13,095 in a total vote of 196,973. These returns were from all of the forty-three counties in the State, with nearly a score complete.

TOWNLEY SILENT.

A. C. Townley, president of the National Nonpartisan League, was here today, but refused to discuss the election.

It was in Golden Valley county, in the western part of the State, that Townley organized the Non-partisan League in 1915. Many prominent league workers came from that section. One interesting point, however, has been that in every section since the league became an issue in this State, Golden Valley county has returned antileague majorities, this year on a two-to-one ratio.

MARSHAL FOCH HONORED.

Capital Cheers French War Hero Who Humbled German Army; Visits Washington's Tomb.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Marshal Ferdinand Foch, soldier of France and citizen of the world, today received, through President Harding and other government officials, the official thanks of the American people for having led its sons to victory in the war.

Unofficial Washington also joined in paying tribute to the soldier, who declared he was deeply impressed with the warmth of his greeting.

Cheering crowds greeted him and there was no mistaking the warmth of the greeting extended the little gray-haired man who humbled the German army.

MARSHAL IS MODEST.

The marshal accepted the homage paid him with modesty. His right hand frequently came to his cap in salute and smiles played across his features.

Late this afternoon, he visited Washington's Tomb, where he laid a wreath on the grave of "the father of our country." Then he stood in silent prayer several minutes.

The marshal previously was taken through the Washington homestead. The original Houdon bust of Washington was shown him and he spent several minutes inspecting it. Then he went upstairs to the bedrooms and signed his name in the official guest book.

He told members of his party that, viewed from the road, the place was like any one of a thousand farms, but that once he was inside the grounds he realized its great attraction.

"It was characteristic of the man himself," he said.

CALLS ON HARDING.

Starting at 10 a.m. the marshal first paid his respects to President Harding, and then was received by Vice-President Coolidge, who hailed him as "the man who saved both France and America." Later he Hughes, and at the War Department, where he was received by Secretary Hughes and at the War Department, where Gen. Pershing and Assistant Secretary Wainwright greeted him. At the Navy Department he shook hands with Secretary Denby and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt.

The official party then motored to the home of former President Wilson, where Brig.-Gen. W. D. Connor, who is acting as honorary military aide, was informed that Mr. Wilson was not receiving visitors. Gen. Connor inquired about the former President's health and then left the marshal's card. Inquiry later developed Mr. Wilson had suffered a slight digestive upset.

After a brief rest at his hotel, the marshal returned to the White House for luncheon with President and Mrs. Harding.

Marshal Foch tonight was the guest of Ambassador Jusserand at the French Embassy, where a dinner was given in his honor.

Fatty's Defense Will be Based on Physiology.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—The defense of Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, film actor, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Virginia Rappe, will be based on a physiology, according to a statement of Charles H. Brennan of San Francisco, Arbuckle's attorney, today.

The defense will contend that Miss Rappee, at the time of her death, suffered from a malady that had been pronounced permanent and chronic at least eight years ago, he said.

"Nothing will be done by the defense that can be construed as an attack on the character of Virginia Rappee, at the time of her death, be handled from the physiological standpoint."

Mr. Brennan is here to examine three Chicago witnesses, Dr. Maurice Rosenberg, who attended Miss Rappe during an illness, and Mrs. Josephine Roth and Mrs. Virginia Warren, nurses. Brennan will go to New York Tuesday to take the deposition of Lowell Sherman, actor, who was present at a party staged by Arbuckle at which Miss Rappe became ill.

G. W. BURTON IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Veteran Newspaper Man and Realty Expert Dies.

Editorial Writer for Many Years on "The Times."

Funeral for Pioneer Will be Conducted Tomorrow.

George W. Burton, newspaper man of thirty-five years' activity in Los Angeles, forceful editorial writer and an authority on real estate in this vicinity, died Friday at his home, 162 North Kenilworth street, Eagle Rock.

From 1896 until a few years ago Mr. Burton was an editorial writer on The Times. In that period he developed his best journalistic work, his writings tempered by experience and the poise of years. Until his health failed him, causing his retirement, his style was masterful, changing, as years went on, from the forceful to the philosophical. His marked literary ability and strength of character gave him a large following among readers of The Times.

Besides his journalistic work, Mr. Burton wrote two books, one in verse, and both in praise of California. Love of the Southland was his passion, for he was a lover of nature. "Beloved California" is a poem occupying a volume, and "California's Sunny Skies" a work in prose. As the writer told his readers in a preface, he might seem to exaggerate, but in reality the loveliness of California could not be exaggerated.

BORN IN IRELAND.

George Ward Burton was born in Ireland. At the age of 12 years he came to this country with his parents. They settled in New York State. Mr. Burton went to Racine (Wis.) College and was graduated with high honors. After his graduation he taught in the grammar school connected with the college at Kenosha. His health failed. His physicians gave him five or six years to live, and they sent him to California. Mr. Burton died at the age of 82 years. That was one of the reasons he loved California.

Mr. Burton came to Los Angeles in 1869. The year 1870 found him conducting a small school in an old adobe building on Main near Second street. One of the stories he liked to repeat was how several citizens offered him forty acres of land if he would agree to remain ten years in Los Angeles and conduct his educational activities. Mr. Burton refused saying he would not remain in Los Angeles ten years for any amount of land. But he remained and lost the land. The forty acres are now the center of the city and are worth millions.

REALTY AUTHORITY.

Later Mr. Burton invested in city and ranch real estate, and his familiarity with values made him an authority on the subject. Many of his newspaper writings had to do with the realty market.

Beginning newspaper work in 1883 as a reporter on the Express, Mr. Burton developed into a skilled special writer. He soon was doing editorial writing. He was employed to write editorials for the Herald. Later he conducted for four years the Commercial Bulletin, a weekly, and selling it he came with The Times in 1896 as an editorial writer. For a long time he conducted "The Eagle," a department in The Sunday Times.

Mr. Burton leaves a widow. The funeral services will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the chapel of Garrett & Co., 1237 South Flower street. Six of Mr. Burton's former associates on The Times will be the pallbearers.

NOTED BULGARIAN POET NOW DEAD.

Vasof Depicted Suffering of His People in Works for Many Years Past.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SOFIA, Oct. 29.—Ivan Vasof, the Bulgarian national poet, is dead. He had been writing as poet or novelist since 1870, and his novels, mainly of contemporaneous Bulgarian life, depict the sufferings and oppression of the Bulgars by the Turks.

them, and to work out a final treaty of peace.

A wireless message from Moscow announces a growing revolt against the Rumanian government in Bessarabia. At the station of Romanovtsky, it says, a sanguinary encounter took place recently between Bessarabian insurgents and Rumanian infantry and cavalry.

NOTE NOT RECEIVED.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The communication from the Russian soviet government relating to the recognition of foreign debts of the imperial Russian government incurred up to 1914, as reported at Riga, had not reached the State Department today, as far as could be ascertained. Officials would not comment upon the advices, but since there is no direct diplomatic channel of communication with soviet Russia, it was expected there would be delay in the transmission of any communication the soviet Foreign Minister might desire to make to the American government.

Obligations of the imperial Russian government accruing in this country, as referred to by the soviet Foreign Minister, were said by treasury officials to be debts in the hands of private individuals, as there was no Russian debt to the United States government prior to 1917. In July, 1917, it was explained, the American government loaned Russia $35,000,000 and later this was increased to $187,729,750.

BONDS ARE OFFERED.

Officials recalled that in January, 1920, Secretary of the Treasury Glass, in a memorandum to the Senate, recalled that the Russian government had offered in this country in 1916 two series of ten-year bonds for 1,000,000,000 rubles each, and in the same year there was $86,000,000 outstanding against that government in the hands of the National City Bank of New York and J. P. Morgan & Co.

It was said there was reason to believe the proposition of a world conference to consider Russia's international liabilities would have to be backed by positive assurances as to the stability of the Russian government, its intention to set up and maintain conditions within Russia which would make possible economic intercourse with that country, and in general an abandonment of the path pursued by the soviets.

It is expected the Russian situation will play an important role in the discussion incident to the meeting here of the armament conference.

WILSON SUFFERS RELAPSE.

Former President Unable to See Marshal Foch When the French Hero Calls.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Woodrow Wilson, former President of the United States, has suffered a relapse. He was today confined to his bed when Marshal Foch called to pay his respects and was under strict orders of his physician to see no callers. He is suffering from severe headaches and is otherwise not as well as he has been in the last few weeks. Tonight for the first time in some months he missed his regular weekly visit to his favorite vaudeville theater.

His physician, Dr. Carey T. Grayson, although admitting that he had ordered his patient to refrain from receiving callers and to remain in bed, would not say anything about his patient's condition. To a friend he admitted he did not know what condition the former President might get into, but added that he was still a sick man. He may not be able to attend the Armistice Day celebration at Arlington, although he is one of the official guests of the government.

ERBSTEIN CASE RULING HELD UP

Woolwine's Bombshell Fizzles as Result of Delay.

Bar Association's Decision is Due on Tuesday.

Mrs. Obenchain and Lawyer in Hurried Conference.

The bombshell which was scheduled to explode in the District Attorney's office yesterday in the event that Charles E. Erbstein, the Chicago attorney who came here to defend Mrs. Madalynne Connor Obenchain in the Kennedy murder case, was admitted by the action of the Los Angeles Bar Association to practice in the local Superior Court, fizzled late in the afternoon when it was learned that the bar association's decision regarding Mr. Erbstein's admission to the bar was deferred until next Tuesday.

Though next Tuesday was set as the date when the bar association's report is to be made public, the board of trustees reported last Friday that its decision would be made public the following day. Rumors had contained the information that a decision was to have been made yesterday, favorable to Mr. Erbstein, as an act of courtesy to the Chicago Bar Association.

During the afternoon Dist.-Atty. Woolwine awaited information on this decision, keeping several of his deputies with him. It was understood that if Mr. Erbstein was to be admitted to practice here the District Attorney would "open fire with both barrels," revealing in a statement all the accusations he says he possesses that are unfavorable to Mr. Erbstein.

MESSAGE SENT HERE.

In Chicago last night it was learned that the Chicago Bar Association had received a lengthy message from the Los Angeles Bar Association in connection with the Woolwine-Erbstein controversy. An answer to this message was forwarded to this city. W. T. Alden, president of the Chicago Bar Association, stated that he could not divulge the contents or nature of the reply and refused to discuss the subject in any manner. W. S. Murray, secretary of the bar association, took the same attitude.

Mr. Erbstein, is was stated, is not a member of the Chicago Bar Association. Mr. Erbstein admitted he is not a member of the associotion, though he is a member of the bar of that city.

BOARD HOLDS MEETING.

A meeting of the board of trustees of the Los Angeles Bar Association was held at 11 a.m. yesterday and the conference lasted well into the noon hour.

"I have no statement to make beyond the fact that the matter has been continued to Tuesday," said Frank James, president of the association.

It was decided that when a definite report is reached it shall be delivered direct to Judge Reeve and it is understood that no final determination resulted at yesterday's meeting. Percy Hammon, chairman of the grievance committee of the Bar Association, presented the facts of the oppostiion to Mr. Erbstein.

Thus were the tracks sanded, according to a statement made by an atache of the District Attorney's office. And not until the decision is made public does Mr. Woolwine intend to issue another statement on his controversy with Mr. Erbstein.

CONFERENCE IN JAIL.

An unexpected conference between Attorney Erbstein and Mrs. Obenchain was held late last night at the County Jail. While Mr. Erbstein was dining at the Ambassador he was suddenly summoned to the telephone and told by a matron of the jail that Mrs. Obenchain urgently requested him to come immediately to the jail—that what she had to say to him was of utmost importance.

Mr. Erbstein, attired in his dinner clothes, arrived at the jail at 8:30 p.m. When Mrs. Obenchain met him in the corridor her eyes were red as if she had been weeping and she clutched a handkerchief in her hand. In a corner of the reception room they talked for an hour. Mr. Erbstein did most of the talking.

When the conference had ended Mr. Erbstein stated that he could not discuss the conference or the conversation. He did admit that Mrs. Obenchain had hastily called him to the County Jail.

Mrs. Obenchain also excused herself from discussing the conference.

"All that I can say is that I have found in Mr. Erbstein a friend of the highest character—a wonderful friend," she said. "Before tonight I have always felt that in this case something, somebody has always been pulling me backward. Since talking to Mr. Erbstein I know that there is something, somebody back of me, pushing me forward."

BURCH SEES SURPRISE.

As on the preceding days, Arthur C. Burch, who will go on trial next Tuesday to answer the charge of murdering J. Belton Kennedy, the Los Angeles broker, reiterated yesterday that he had no further comment to make until the date of his trial. Since the reported "break" between him and Mrs. Obenchain he has declined to make any statements regarding the case. He stated that he will talk and tell everything he knows—things that will startle everybody interested in the case—but that that time will be when he takes the witness stand in his own defense.

Mrs. Obenchain, who passed the afternoon in the sweltering County Jail with her divorced husband, Ralph Obenchain, who is a member of her legal staff, waited in vain for the coming of Attorney Erbstein. She read eagerly all the newspaper stories bearing upon her case and apparently was feeling more cheerful—because of the near-approach of the trial—than she had been during the entire week.

LAUNCH DESTROYERS AT MARE ISLAND YARD.

VALLEJO, Oct. 29.—The destroyers Perry and Decatur were launched at the Mare Island Navy Yard today, completing a program of sixteen vessels, authorized during the war for construction here.

The Decatur was sponsored by Mrs. Josiah A. McKeen, wife of the yard commandant, while Miss Anne Randolph Scudder, daughter of Commander Randolph Scudder, sponsored the Perry. Miss Scudder is a direct descendant of Commodore Perry, American naval hero, for whom the destroyer is named.

LONG GRIND ON TARIFF SURE.

nent tariff bill is not likely to reach the statute books before March or April or possibly May or June. Undoubtedly it will be enacted into law at some time during the coming regular session of Congress. The leaders have made tentative plans to end the session not later than June.

The radical departure determined upon in the American valuation plan, which contemplates the abandonment of the policy of assessing import duties on the foreign invoice value, followed by the United States practically all the time for more than a century, has been the primary cause of the slow progress made in revising the tariff law. Contributing factors have been, of course, the difficulty of determining rates of duty satisfactorily in view of chaotic world conditions and also the fact that the same committees, the ways and means committee in the House and finance committee in the Senate, which have charge of the tariff legislation, also have been engaged in the revision of tax laws.

PLAN IS STORM CENTER.

The American valuation plan is becoming more and more the storm center of pending tariff legislation so far as business interests throughout the United States are concerned. Strangely enough the agitation against the plan, which was started originally by New York importers and has gradually spread over the country with commercial organizations and business men of various classes besides importers joining in it, has failed to make much of an impression upon the Republican membership of either the House or Senate.

The Democrats naturally have not failed to take advantage of this issue. The tariff, however, is so much of a party question that opposition by the Democrats does not assume the same significance which it might have if there were any likelihood that party lines would be ignored in the final vote.

REPUBLICANS ARE UNIT.

Although many Republican members of the House strongly objected to some of the duties in the bill as reported from the Ways and Means Committee, not a voice was raised from the Republican side in opposition to the American valuation plan. Republican members of the Senate committee already have gone so far as to definitely approve the American valuation plan, a substitute provision having been framed in place of the section of the House bill covering this subject. The substitute plan also has been concurred in by Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee, so that as the situation now stands the Republican majority in both committees are so far committed to the principle that there seems no likelihood of its abandonment at any later stage of the proceedings.

DYE EMBARGO PROBLEM.

In the case of Schedule 1, the committee attempted to reach a definite decision on the question of an embargo on imports of dyes. The proposed provision for control of imports of dyes which was approved by the House Ways and Means Committee was stricken out on the floor of the House through a combination of a minority of Republicans and the Democrats. While the Republican members of the Finance Committee have not announced a definite decision on the matter, they have indicated opposition to an embargo. The plan under consideration contemplates the imposition of prohibitive duties in the case of dyes which are manufactured in sufficient quantities in the United States.

The committee in its hearings only scratched the surface of the agricultural schedule and will begin on that schedule when hearings are resumed next week. The plan as worked out in conjunction with the agricultural bloc of the Senate is to start with the live-stock sections of the agricultural schedule. All the agricultural organizations are to have representatives on hand and extensive consideration will be given. While the House bill gives agriculture a greater degree of protection than in the past, there are a number of features of the schedule with which the farm interests are not satisfied.

TAX BILL CAUSES DELAY.

The hearings on the agriculture schedule will continue for at least a week and probably more. Until the tax bill is finally disposed of hearings will be interrupted to a considerable extent.

During the former hearings the committees passed over Schedule 5, applying to sugar, and Schedule 6, relating to tobacco. The Cuban sugar interests have been conducting a strong campaign against the continuance of the increased duty on sugar which was made effective with the emergency tariff act and which is retained in the permanent bill. There also are features of the tobacco schedule which have caused considerable opposition.

Several other important schedules remain to be considered. Schedule 8, applying to spirits, wines and other beverages, can be disposed of in short order, but Schedule 9, on cotton manufactures, will open up a controversy, the New England cotton manufacturers insisting that they have not been taken care of adequately. Schedule 10, on flax, hemp and jute, will require some time, and Schedule 11, on wool and manufactures of wool, will need a lengthy discussion. Neither wool growers nor manufacturers are satisfied with the wool schedule as it now stands. Schedule 12, relating to silk and silk goods, also has occasioned considerable criticism.

WILL HEAR CINEMA MEN.

Schedule 13 relates to papers and books while Schedule 14 deals with sundries. In connection with the schedule on sundries, moving picture producers will urge that the duty imposed in the House bill on foreign films be eliminated.

Numerous controversies are involved in the consideration of the free list, which will be taken up after the schedules are completed. Among the questions on which numerous witnesses will be heard are the placing of hides, leather and shoes on the dutiable list and the imposition of a duty on crude petroleum. Efforts to have these transferred from the free list proved unsuccessful in the House but will be renewed in the Senate. The controversy over the removal of lumber from the free list also will be renewed in the Senate.

After Title I containing the dutiable list and Title II applying to the free list have been disposed of in the hearings, the committee will take up Title III, containing special provisions relating to reciprocal trade relations, and Title IV, containing administrative provisions. Title III provides three methods by which tariff concessions may be

The Masterpiece

Creations of art—masterpieces—are evolved slowly, earnestly—limited in number to the capacity of inspired hands and minds.

If the whole world had clamored for the paintings of Rembrandt, this master's genius could have yielded no more of his marvelous conceptions than now exist. Genius will not be crowded. It can have little of modern mechanics or time-saving short-cuts.

And so it is that Mason & Hamlin Pianos take more time to produce, cost more, and are necessarily limited in numbers available to purchasers than any other piano in the world!

The Mason & Hamlin is a masterpiece!

We invite you to hear its glorious tone, the inspiration of great musicians.

DELEGATES MAY VISIT ON COAST.

Oregon Senator Wants Nation to Foot Bills.

Says Journey Would Help to Make Friends.

Foreign Correspondents Are Included Also.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Led by Senator Stansfied of Oregon, several members of both houses of Congress are urging that all the delegates to the Conference on the Limitation of Armaments, together with all foreign correspondents, be shown all of the United States as guests of the nation. The movement is especially for the proper exposition of the West and Pacific Coast in order that those high officials and world-wide writers may carry home an adequate idea of the size of the United States and a fair appraisement of its resources.

There will be many complications and some objections by the State Department and other officials of the administration. Race controversies on the Pacific Coast might prove most embarrassing and the oriental delegations might find it impossible to accept under the circumstances. Other sections of the country—notably, the South, will also insist on the trip being expanded to include that part of the United States, and altogether the movement is beset with many difficulties, though in the end it may be worked out as a finale of this conference.

FILES RESOLUTION.

Stansfield, in order to get the matter before Congress and the public today introduced the following resolution:

"Whereas, the foreign delegates to the Conference on Limitation of Armament, with few exceptions have heretofore not visited the United States, and

"Whereas, a better appreciation of the extent, the resources and development of the United States, and a wider and more intimate knowledge of its people will contribute to a better understanding of American problems, and

"Whereas, the conference, by stipulation of the call of the President, will consider specifically the problems of the Far East, otherwise the problems of the Pacific, and

"Whereas, the delegates, by closer contact with our people, can more readily ascertain the sentiment prevailing in the United States regarding limitation of armaments, and

"Where it is desirable that American sentiment be considered by the delegates when the conference comes to its final deliberations, that they may weigh not only the welfare of their own peoples but requirements of the people of the United States; and

"Whereas, the people of the United States will welcome an opportunity to meet and to entertain the delegates and newspaper correspondents from foreign lands,

"Therefore, be it resolved that the Secretary of State be authorized in the name of the President to invite all delegates to the Conference on Limitation of Armament, and all correspondents representing newspapers abroad, to make a tour of the United States, including the States of the Pacific Coast, at such time as may be convenient to them before the conclusion of the conference."

Copies of the resolution have been sent to the ambassadors of all the powers which will participate in the conference and copies have also been sent to the leading newspapers in this country and abroad.

DISCUSS TAX REVISION BILL.

Negotiations for Final Vote Fall Through.

Only Two Amendments Acted on During Day.

Make Income Tax Returns Open to Public.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Pressure behind the tax revision bill eased off perceptibly today in the Senate where it became apparent there was small prospect of a final vote before the middle of next week.

Negotiations between the majority and the minority looking to an agreement for a day for a final vote fell through. Later Democratic leaders estimated that the bill might be passed by Wednesday or Thursday. Some Senators on the majority side thought the vote would come by Thursday, while there were other estimates that it might be deloyed until Saturday.

"We have now broken the back of the movement to force this bill through without proper consideration," said Senator Simmons of North Carolina.

Only two amendments were disposed of today. Under one change, adopted on motion of Senator Reed, income tax returns would be open to inspection by direction of either House of Congress. Under existing law they are opened for inspection only on orders of the President.

LAUNCHES BONUS FIGHT.

Senator Reed today launched his fight for the soldiers' bonus, which he has proposed shall be paid out of funds obtained by continuing the excess profits tax. He declared his amendment was designed "to pay the bonus from the profits of the war profiteers."

"I am only taking the funds," he said, turning to the Republicans, "that you propose to throw away and leave in the hands of the profiteers. You can put this money in the hands of the soldiers and not adversely affect the fiscal policy of the government. That answers all arguments raised against the bonus by the President's letter."

Reading the message of President Harding and the letter of Secretary Mellon opposing the bonus at present, Senator Reed charged it was the Republican plan "to kill" the bonus bill.

AMENDMENT GOES OVER.

Nearly three hours were consumed in a fight against an amendment offered by Senator Smoot, proposing exemption from taxation of the income derived from business done in China by American corporations, 80 per cent of whose gross income comes from that country.

The amendment finally was passed over, as was that proposing retention of the capital stock tax, which the Finance Committee proposed to repeal next January 1.

Senator Edge presented an amendment to continue the present 10 per cent income tax rate on corporations and Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, offered a new schedule of estate tax rates, beginning at 1 per cent on all that part of an estate over $50,000 and graduating up to 50 per cent on all over $30,000,000.

clan, when widely separated, lose touch with one another and with one another's point of views, unless efforts are made to maintain touch between them, so I believe absolutely in the necessity for the closest intercourse between the United States and Great Britain in every sphere of activity.

THE MISCHIEF MAKER.

"It is not to be expected, indeed it is humanly impossible, that both countries should be in perfect agreement at all times, and when differences do arise in international affairs they are called 'incidents' and much can be made of them by those who delight in making mischief and scandal—but if we know one another well enough, and trust one another completely enough, the mischief maker can strive in vain.

"As one whose life has been spent in various parts of the world, who has had opportunity for close co-operation with the United States Navy, both in peace and in war, I think I am entitled to speak with the voice of experience, and I can definitely state that we never had the slightest difficulty in seeing each other's point of view or of arriving at decisions that were completely agreeable to both. Why?

"Because we spoke the same language, we had the same ideas as to what was right and what was wrong, and because we were wholeheartedly out to complete the job. This was simply co-operation, which can equally well be applied to the great problems which lie between the two countries.

"We have poured out our manhood and our wealth in the common cause—and I pray the almighty God to so carry conviction to the minds of our respective peoples that will preserve the most cordial relations between the English-speaking nations, now and for always."

RESUME SEARCH FOR SLAYER OF PRIEST.

FUNERAL OF CLERGYMAN OBSERVED BY CESSATION OF BUSINESS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LEAD (S. D.) Oct. 29.—Search for Andrew Rolando, wanted in connection with the death here Wednesday of Father A. B. Belknap, pastor of St. Patrick's cathedral, was resumed today following the funeral of the priest.

Officers in automobiles left Lead late today in the second expedition of the day in an effort to locate the miner in case he still remained in the Black Hills country. Officials expressed the belief, however, he was on his way to Butte, Mont., beating his way on freight trains.

The funeral of Father Belknap was observed by a cessation of business, the entire city halting to pay tribute to the man who died while on an errand of mercy. Bishop J. J. Lawler, who officiated at solemn high requiem mass, denounced the slaying of Father Belknap as a dastardly deed which challenges the community and the whole priesthood.

and human progress are suffering today is largely due to enormous expenditures in the increasing armaments of the present time. The government and people of Japan strongly feel that the most urgent and real need of the world today is to find a basis for an agreement among the powers whereby limitation of armaments may be effected. They believe that the age of nations living in distrust and antagonism of each other is past and that the world is seriously looking for a new era where all nations will be allowed to live their own lives peacefuly and in harmony with one another.

SHOULD REACH AGREEMENT.

"Difficult as it may seem, they nevertheless believe that there is no reason why the powers should not be able to come to such an agreement as above indicated, if they only approach the subject with an open and judicious mind and in a spirit of mutual accommodations and helpfulness.

"So far as Japan is concerned she is prepared to go, in co-operation with other powers, to any reasonable extent to achieve this desired end in the interest of the peace and welfare of the world, which have ever been the cherished object of solicitude on her part. It was with such belief and idea that the government of Japan gladly and wholeheartedly responded to the call of President Harding—a call which plainly spoke out the inmost desire of all progressive and peace-loving nations.

CUT OFF BY FIRE.

"These men understand the game of fire fighting, but we fear that they have been cut off by the onrush of the flames and we are satisfied that in any event they will have to make a run for their lives through heavy underbrush and cover many miles on foot before they can get out," said Deputy Turner at 5 p.m. yesterday.

Three of the forest fires started on the north side of the Malibu in direct line with each other at regular intervals and in each case fresh hoof prints of a shod saddle horse were found leading from one point to the next, where the fires started.

The sweep of flames is due south and unless checked, will cross the ridge and continue down and cnonect with area swept by the disastrous Trancas Canyon fire of ten days ago, completing the denuding of virtually 15,000 acres.

Deputy Hanson left before sundown yesterday with forty men and a truckload of provisions for the Mathewson ranch at Triumfo.

GERMANY AT OLD TRICKS.

Disguised Army Ready for War.

Pleads Poverty While Making Plans to Recapture World Commerce.

Seeking to Evade Payment of Reparations; Develops Chemical Warfare.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, October 29.—As the arms conference approaches Germany is by Allied experts believed to be developing as great a genius in avoiding her reparations payments as she exhibited while committing the acts of horror which justified them. It is not unlikely that sensational revelations on these lines may be made at the conference.

While she groans and squirms and cries aloud with pain and, it is rumored, deliberately sends down the German mark to practically nothing in the outside market, hoping thereby to impress the Washington arms conference with her utter helplessness, she also lays trade plans—lays them and puts them into operation, plans which, by her evasion of her payments, say her critics here in France and even in tolerant England, she has placed herself in an unfair position to carry out.

And when she pays the very payments are upsetting the economic conditions of the Allies.

POSITION IS PECULIAR.

Their position is peculiar. They must get reparations out of Germany and they cannot get that which she has not—actual gold coin.

Her bank notes are mere promises to pay, and the Allies already have her promises to pay. The bank notes are the same thing in a different form and if the Allies should accept them Germany would certainly repudiate them as she has all others. The old are quite as valuable in the market as the new would be, for German bank notes there are practically without value.

Germany will not pay in gold, although she probably has large hidden stores. As to this there is divergence of opinion.

If she pays in goods (which is her wish providing she must pay at all) they must of course come into competition with the goods of the Allies and, being manufactured under circumstances inconceivably favorable, such goods must tend to destroy the trade of the Allies and enrich Germany.

EVADING THE TREATY.

In the meantime what does she do with regard to other phases of the great agreement with which the war was brought to an end?

One of the treaty provisions was that Germany must not maintain an army of more than 100,000 men.

The fact is that the German army at present is not much less than a million.

There cannot be the slightest doubt that the people of France and Great Britain feel that the suggestion that the Allied troops should be withdrawn from Germany is the result of carefully promulgated German propaganda and that if it should be done the peril would be great.

Germany never has met the terms of the peace treaty fully in any one particular. One requirement of that treaty is that she shall produce an army budget, meeting those terms, fully reveal it to the inter-allied control commissions, and in other ways lay her military cards upon the table.

Her evasions have been ingenious. In the first place her men actually under arms have much exceeded the 100,000 allowed by the peace treaty. In the second place the army which she does maintain is something more than a mere "police" force of a certain numerical strength—it is a skeleton organization prepared with the especial thought that it shall be appropriate for immediate expansion at any particular moment.

Experts declare that the augmentation could be effected within an incredibly short time—perhaps forty-eight hours!

The German methods of evading the requirements of the peace treaty with regard to her expenditures for military purposes are perfectly well known, but the treaty really provides no means for meeting and preventing them.

ARMY CAMOUFLAGED.

To mask her army administrative organizations under the camouflage of civil service administrative organizations has been a very simple process.

In this way the German government actually has made provisions, in the way of personnel, clothing, depots, material, including arms and ammunition and every conceivable other requisite except heavy artillery for an army of 800,000 men.

With such provisions ready in advance their doubling, under Germany's highly organized industrial scheme, would be the labor of a brief, inconsequential time.

For Germany never in her heart really has demobilized. When the war ended with a victory for the Allies the people of the Allied nations laid their arms down with a whoop of joy; they rioted with gladness on the occasion of the armistice and have celebrated it with happiness on each of its several anniversaries. They have assumed that they have quite defeated Germany.

HAS NOT ACCEPTED DEFEAT.

But Germany never has accepted that defeat.

While the Allies have been using every effort to get back to actual peace-time footing, trying to forget war, refusing to enlist, stopping not alone the manufacture of arms and munitions but even experimentation in their manufacture, Germany has been producing new devices. She has produced new smokeless powder, as well as certain noxious gases. It is absolutely certain that at present Germany has many chemical instruments of warfare which she did not have upon the day of armistice.

Germany today is infinitely more anxious for her place in the sun that she was in August, 1914. For now she has a little less than she had then. She hates the shade.

Germany has enormous resources of trained technicians. Have they lost their knowledge? Have they ceased to work at the perfection of their theories with regard to manufacture of military material? There is not the slightest reason to believe this to be the case.

A census of them, every Frenchman and most Englishmen believe, would reveal that they are working with one hand for the perfection of new German industries which will get the nation back to money-power and with the other for the perfection of new methods of warfare.

Every Englishman in the chemical trade knows this; every Frenchman in or out of the chemical trade knows it; they are amazed when they discover that Americans will not believe it.

Some French and practically all British war plants have been actually converted to peace purposes. In England they have been so fully converted that to reconstruct them would be as great a task as to build new war-plants would be.

DIFFERENT IN GERMANY.

Not so in Germany. War plants remain war plants to this extent; though they may be utilized at present for entirely peaceful purposes, a month, a week and in many instances a day could see them back at their old work.

Have any new explosives plants been built? Who knows. Chemical advance has not been stopped. The effort of the Allies to discourage all chemical manufacture in Germany through high tariffs and other measures is regarded by the military experts as fully justified not only by commercial reasoning but by considerations for the safety of the world.

Thus the Allies watch with earnest interest the American procedure with regard to chemical tariffs. No informed member of the Allied group fails to regret such large American purchases of German chemicals, especially dye-stuffs, as would enable Germany to enlarge her present chemical industry. A German chemical industry, developed to high potentiality, would be, in these days, it is recognized, a better corner-stone for war-making than a ceaselessly developed Krupp gun factory.

The Humanitarian.

"I use this horrible shriek horn on my motor car for humane reasons," explained Lieutenant Husted. "If I can paralyze a pedestrian with fear, he will stand still and I am less likely to run over him."—Arklight.

SEATTLE (Wash.) Oct. 29.—With the expectation of devoting the next six months to hunting and trapping rare game birds in Siberia and Manchuria, J. A. Park of this city, left recently on the Admiral liner Wenatachee with half a dozen highly trained pointer and setter dogs. His purpose is to supply a number of American museums and zoological gardens. Park said he had arranged with parties of native hunters to set traps. At the same time he will hunt with dogs and gun, and hopes to bring back with the living birds supplied by the trappers a number of interesting mounted specimens.

POSTOFFICE TERMINAL APPROVED.

O'Brien Gets Word of O.K. in Washington; Work Due to Start Soon.

Acting Postmaster O'Brien received word yesterday by wire from First Assistant Postmaster-General Hubert Work, that the proposition to establish a big terminal postoffice station at the southeast corner of Third street and Central avenus, has been approved. This means that work on the proposed structure and the new enlarged arrangements for the proper handling of the enormous amount of mail will begin immediately.

One of the provisions of the lease that will tend to quiet the fears of the backers of the Plaza union depot project is the feature that allows the government to cancel the agreement in case the location of a union depot requires that the terminal station be removed to some other part of the city. In other words, if the Plaza site plan is carried out, the terminal station now proposed, will be removed there.

Under the innovation, the present postoffice will be known as the central station. The second floor of the Federal Building possibly will be occupied by the officer of the Collector of Internal Revenue.

The property secured for the zterminal station will furnish about 152,000 feet of floor space. The building to be erected will be two stories high with provision for an extension if necessary. The lease is for twenty years, at an annual rental of $126,000.

In harmony with the recently announced program of Postmaster-General Hays, the local structure will do its part toward "humanizing" the postoffice. The new building will have every adjunct to contribute to the comfort of the patrons and employees.

HUNGARY EXPECTING ALLIED INTERVENTION.

DEATH SENTENCE DUE FOR CHARLES'S AIDES UNLESS REGENT CHANGES.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BUDAPEST, Oct. 29.—Hungary expects the Allies to intervene in its behalf if the Little Entente insists on invading Hungary unless the government complies with the demands made on it by its neighbors. The Allied representatives declare that Hungary is carrying out the terms of the Trianon Treaty. However, war at this time is not expected.

It is expected that the death sentence will be passed on Count Andrassy, Deputy Rakowsky and Prince Windisch-Graetz unless Regent Horthy changes their sentence to imprisonment. Count Andrassy probably will plead that he is innocent, claiming that he was in the neighborhood where former Emperor Karl attempted to launch his coup to attend the baptism of his grandchild. All three will be charged with sedition and plotting to restore Karl. Maj. Ostenburg, the military leader of Karl's attempt, will be tried later on the same charge.

The former King and Queen are now living in a four-room apartment in the abbey at Tihany. Gen. Lorx is responsible for the custody and it is reported that English, French and Italian officers also are guarding him. Karl is allowed the freedom of the cloister garden, which covers an acre, but he is not permitted to leave the walls of the abbey. Yesterday he was refused permission to go for a boat ride on Lake Balaton.

The government is continuing its efforts to induce Karl to sign an abdication to the throne for the good of the country.

MILLING-IN-TRANSIT PRIVILEGE EXTENDED.

ALL POINTS WITHIN ONE HUNDRED MILES OF MAIN RAILROADS TO ENJOY RIGHT.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29. — An order including all points within 100 miles of the main railroad lines in the "milling-in-transit" privileges for grain was handed down by the State Railroad Commission today. Following the return of the railroads to private control, South Vallejo, Colusa, Stockton and Los Angeles were the only points distantly removed from one or more of the main lines to be granted the "milling-in-transit" privilege by the carriers. San Francisco and Oakland and a number of other important points were excluded from the privilege. Although San Francisco and Oakland are main-line points, they are "out-of-line" on some of the principal grain routes and therefore did not enjoy the "milling-in-transit privilege."

The privilege allows grain to be shipped between two points and milled on the way for the same rate as four shipments between the same points.

PRESCRIPTION BY RADIO.

Women on the Farallones first came into prominence on February 1, last, when Commander Scott D. McCaughey, at that time radio officer of the Twelfth Naval District, sent a doctor's prescription by wireless to the islands and saved the life of Mrs. Charles R. Glass, bride of a naval radio operator stationed there, who had been taken dangerously ill.

All was again quiet on the Farallones until early in the morning of September 15 last, when an S.O.S. message was picked up asking that a tug be sent immediately to the assistance of Mrs. George T. Thomas, wife of the second assistant lighthouse tender on the island. The coast guard cutter Tulare responded and brought Mrs. Thomas to a local private sanatorium.

When Mrs. Thomas recovered she filed a divorce complaint against her husband, charging that the green-eyed monster, jealousy, had caused him to chase her from the lighthouse with a gun. According to her complaint he accused her of flirting with men on the San Francisco beach twenty-three miles away and with others on an Orient-bound steamer miles distant from the lighthouse. Mrs. Thomas was granted a divorce and the Farallones again passed into the obscurity of the Pacific fogs.

TEHACHEPI MAN GETS NEW HOMESTEAD ENTRY

DIFFICULTY OVER HOG RAISING BRINGS CHANGE FOR APPLICANT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—By a decision rendered today by Assistant Commissioner of the General Land Office Wickham, John D. Jones of Tehachapi, Cal., is given the right to make a new homestead entry at the Los Angeles Land Office. Jones made an entry for land near Tehachepi in 1919, thinking it valuable for hog raising, but on account of difficulty with cattle raisers in the locality the hogs were not permitted the use of the open range like the cattle. He, therefore, relinquished the land and decided that a tract of land about six miles northwest of Mojave would be desirable for this purpose.

In passing upon the application for second homestead entry, Mr. Wickham found that the good faith of Jones was manifest, and directed Register Groves and Receiver Mitchell to allow Jones a new homestead.

The six are being tried in connection with Binney's death.

The men accused by Wu Poon are Joe Fong and Jin Wah. Wu Poon said he ran from the scene and was pursued by some of the Chinese gunmen who shot and wounded him in the leg. He identified Tong Yee and Lee Fong, two other defendants, as the men who shot him.

AMERICAN PLAN IS REITERATED.

Oil Producers' Association Issues Statement.

Early Termination of the Strike is Seen.

Eighteen Indictments Are Returned at Fresno.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—The Oil Producers' Association of California issued a statement tonight regarded in some quarters as indicating an early termination of the strike in the San Joaquin Valley oil fields.

A declaration of principles which the statement said would be adhered to by member operators in their dealings with employees was set forth as follows:

REITERATE PRINCIPLES.

Having in mind the resumption of operations in the oil fields affected by the strike it is believed advisable at this time to reiterate the principles heretofore recognized by this association and to announce the procedure to be followed in the employment of men. It is due our employees, present and prospective, that they know of these principles and this procedure.

First the right of every man to secure and retain employment without being obliged to join any organization or deal through others with his employer is recognized and will be upheld.

Second, the government should not directly or indirectly be called upon to fix wages and working conditions in private industry, such control being the exercise of authority necessarily without responsibility for results to the industry.

We declare as a cardinal principle the right and the obligation of each employer and of his employees to agree on their relations without such government control.

INDIVIDUAL SELECTION.

The process of individual selection in employment will be used by all member companies in all cases to the end that efficiency be obtained and harmonious relations established and maintained by superintendents, foremen and workmen. In this selection former employees will not be discriminated against because of membership in any legitimate trade union or on account of having gone on strike.

Due to the necessity of adjusting conditions to present economic conditions member companies will employ only such workmen as they may consider necessary efficiently to conduct their operations.

Member companies will deal with their own employees directly, individually or collectively, and each company will arrange suitable means for the adjustment of all grievances within the company with the right of appeal through proper channels ultimately if necessary to the highest officers of the company. In collective dealing the right of any employee to represent himself is recognized.

INDICTMENTS RETURNED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FRESNO, Oct. 29.—Eighteen striking oil workers must answer to the Superior Court on charges of burglary, kidnaping and using force and violence, because of indictments returned this afternoon by the county grand jury in special session.

It was indicated by the court after the true bills had been returned that some of the men would be held without bail following their arrest and that in other cases $5000 security would be demanded.

None of the persons named in the indictments has been made known and theid identity will remain secret until after arrests have been made.

The jury was called in special session after a series of law violations had been attributed to strike leaders and the investigation disclosed that the union men had been guilty of a wide variety of crimes. The outbreak that really caused the investigation was the kidnaping of men employed by the Pacific Oil Company who were taken from their work by force and badly treated by the strikers.

Excitement in the Coalinga and other near-by oil fields has been at high tention since the action of the jury became known, as it is said some of the leading men in the workers' organization are included in the jury's finding.

SINN FEIN NOW WANTS AT ULSTER.

Demands in Hands of the Premier Do Not Mention Sovereignty, is Report.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Oct. 29. — I have learned that the government is now in possession of the Irish demands which Prime Minister Lloyd George insisted on having after Eamonn de Valera's telegram to Pope Benedict brought matters to a crisis. It is stated that sovereignty is not mentioned, thus by implication surrendering that demand, but the main demand is for the revision of Ulster's position.

The Sinn Fein asks that either Ulster consent to come into United Ireland or to agree to a plebiscite for the revision of its boundary. Under such an arrangement Ulster would be sure to lose Tyrone and Fermanagh. The government's chief difficulty in agreeing to a plebiscite is the fact that there is a solid block of Protestants in the center of Tyrone, while in the east and west the county is Catholic.

There will be no further meeting of the conference until Tuesday, and in the meantime hopes for the final success are improving. Lloyds is insuring the risk of a general election before the end of the year at 40 per cent, which means 6 to 4 against an election. As a general election only is possible if the conference breaks down, these opinions reflect the best opinion on the chances of success.

There is a revival of the fear that Mr. Lloyd George may not be able to get away next Saturday for Washington, but he still is determined to go if possible, and in any case he will go later. During the Prime Minister's absence Arthur J. Balfour will act as chief of the British delegation.

"FIGHT OR FROLIC" FOR THE DEMOCRATS.

PARTY LEADERS GO TO ST. LOUIS FOR MEETING OPENING TUESDAY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—George White, chairman of the Democratic National Committee and other party leaders left here tonight for St. Louis to attend the committee's meeting opening November 1. The leaders expressed themselves as uncertain whether "a fight or a frolic" would dvelop. There were several reports that a move might develop at the meeting to oust Mr. White as chairman, but several prominent Democrats said every possible effort would be made to continue party harmony.

Some reports here said that friends of W. G. McAdoo were behind a plan to have Chairman White superseded. Mr. White's friends said he was willing and anxious to retire if all elements of the party could agree on a successor.

Friends of Mr. McAdoo were represented as stating that they favored Daniel C. Roper, former internal revenue commissioner, for chairman.

MANY HERE ARE SENT TO PRISON.

San Quentin Chaplain Gives Startling Figures.

City Club Speaker Compares North and South.

Appeals to Citizens to Help Keep Youths Straight.

"What is the matter with Los Angeles county?" asked Chaplain Oliver Lazure of San Quentin prison, speaking yesterday at the noon luncheon of the City Club. "During the fiscal year ending last June 30 we received at the prison 266 prisoners from Los Angeles county and but ninety-nine from San Francisco during the same period. Is it because you are enforcing the law more stringently here than it is being enforced in the north, or because more men and women are going wrong here than in San Francisco that the number of offenders reaching us is increasing from the south?" asked the speaker.

Chaplain Lazure pointed out that of 605 prisoners received during the first six months of this year, 184 were under 21 years of age, and he pleaded that the members of the club take an interest in the young men and women of Los Angeles to aid them in becoming law-abiding citizens.

"Boys are not inherently bad," said Dr. Lazure, "but they are jammed full of life, and it is up to you to see that their energies are pointed in the right direction."

Lack of sufficient education and home training were given as the basic reasons for the making of offenders, the chaplain declared, and he said that in the two years that he has been at San Quentin not one school-teacher or one college graduate has been committed to the prison.

"Of 805 men and women received at the prison who have been examined as to their training, the average schooling is six years," he continued. "Stop the tide of men and women which is filling our prisons, by taking an interest in the people before they go wrong. Inside of San Quentin prison we are taking an interest in their problems and trying to educate them and to rebuild their characters so that when they are released and have paid the penalty for their wrong doing, they will be in a position to become useful citizens.

"It is up to you on the outside of the prisons to give them a square deal. It is because they have a cold reception when released that men who have been to prison become discouraged and again commit crimes and are sent back to us at San Quentin."

Chaplain Lazure was introduced by Police Commissioner De Coo.

FAMOUS OLD SCHOONER SAVED FROM BONEYARD.

EQUATOR, ON WHICH STEVENSON GOT IDEA FOR "WRECKERS," STILL SEAWORTHY.

SEATTLE, (Wash.) Oct. 29.—The old South Sea trading schooner Equator, famous as the vessel on which Robert Louis Stevenson is said to have received the inspiration for his story "The Wreckers," has been granted a reprieve from Davy Jones's boneyard of wornout ships.

The Equator, for many years a Puget Sound steam tug, was about to be discarded when it was decided to open up her hull. The frames were found to be of Port Orford cedar and as good, according to marine men here, as when she slid down the ways at Benicia, Cal., in 1888. As a result the vessel was recently rebuilt, her steam engine replaced with a Diesel power engine and she will shortly resume her career as a tug.

The story goes that Stevenson, making a voyage in the Equator, then a schooner, among the "islands of romance," was sitting in the cabin one night with a gathering of traders, pearl fishers and others and heard an old South Sea yarn that gave him the idea for "The Wreckers." Later he recorded that fact in his diary.

Years later the Equator was equipped with steam engines and in the course of time made her appearance on Puget Sound.

Her owners say she is good for many more years of service.

HIGHWAYMAN IS SLAIN BY SON OF VICTIM.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 29.—An unidentified highwayman, about 45 years old, was killed here last night by Allen M. Berger while in the act of holding up the latter's father, A. D. Berger, in an oil station on Colton avenue two miles out of this city. The slain man, who was assisted in his attempt by a man of about 20 years, who made his escape, lived for about two hours after being shot. He wore clothes which indicated by their store marks that they had been purchased in Los Angeles.

DEATH PREVENTS MAN'S ARREST.

Sheriff Arrives as Body of Accused is Carried From Home.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Oct. 29. After tracing the murder car in which the slayers of Chum Sud, a local Chinese, escaped, for several days, Sheriff C. J. Taylor discovered the identity of the owner of the car and arrived at his home near Sacramento just as the hearse containing the body of the car's owner was leaving the place.

Charlie Lum, a Chinese living in an oriental settlement near Sacramento, had died from natural causes the day before, and when the Sheriff arrived to place him under arrest on a murder charge his body was just being taken to the railroad station to be shipped to China. Sheriff Taylor returned to this city today.

PLAN SCENIC HIGHWAY THROUGH LASSEN PARK

NEWLY OPENED WONDER SPOT OF CALIFORNIA WILL BE MECCA FOR AUTOISTS.

REDDING, Oct. 29.—Selection of a portion of a route for a scenic highway through the recently created Mount Lassen National Park, near here, is being made by M. E. Dittmar, of Redding, known as the "father of the Lassen Park."

Many isolated parts of the park, now seldom visited, will be opened up by the road, which, for a great part of the distance, will follow an old immigrant trail from Reno to the pioneer mining settlement of Shasta, near here.

Mount Lassen, the only active volcano in the continental United States, is only one of the wonders of the park, according to Dittmar, who recently spent several weeks visiting wild and remote portions of the reservation. One feature is Cinder Cone, a great, inverted giant bowl, rising 640 feet into the air to a double crater, one within the other. North and south of Cinder Cone are great lava flows, jumbled masses that attain a height of between fifty and 100 feet above the surrounding plains. Alpine lakes, with towering banks on one side and lava sand on the other, are hidden here and there in the lava beds.

MONEY IS IGNORED; ONLY WHISKY TAKEN.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Thieves broke into the store of the Falkner Drug Company, Eighth avenue and Fifty-second street, early today and stole $2000 worth of alcohol and choice whisky.

That the thieves were after nothing but liquor is shown by the fact they made no attempt to take any money, although there was more than $500 in cash on the desk, which they had to pass to reach the liquor. Drugs and perfumes of great value, cartons of cigarettes and boxes of good cigars were also ignored by the raiders.

THREE MEN SOUGHT AS TRAIN WRECKERS.

SEEN FLEEING AFTER PASSENGER IS DERAILED—THREE HURT IN ACCIDENT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Three men are being sought by a Sheriff's posse following the wrecking near Elba, Mich., of a passenger train of the Grand Trunk lines which was due in Chicago at 7:30 a.m. today. The fireman was seriously scalded and two passengers were seriously hurt. The injured were taken to LaPeer for medical attention.

The three men thought to be responsible for the removal of the rail which caused the derailing of the engine and coaches were seen by the flagman dashing into the woods as he ran to the rear of the train to place warning signals shortly after the wreck.

When the flagman's statement became generally known, many of the residents of LaPeer recalled the strangers who appeared in the village Friday night.

No motive for the attempt to wreck the crowded train has been revealed.

FINDS DIAMOND, GIVES IT BACK.

Ontario Shoe Shiner Proves Faithful to Patron's Interests.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ONTARIO, Oct. 29.—Louis E. Alimisis, a local Greek, who conducts a stand at 104 West A street, qualified as the honest shoe shiner today when a prominent Ontario society woman, calling for a pair of shoes which she had left to be polished, received also a $1500 diamond ring which Alimisis had discovered lodged in the toe of one of the shoes.

The society woman had not missed the jewel, which is thought to have slipped from her finger while she was carrying the shoes and by a strange twist of fate to have fallen into the toe of one of them.

When the owner of the ring had sufficiently recovered her breath she rewarded Alimisis with a neat check.

SPEED SAVES AUTO DRIVER.

Car Too Fast for Would-be Hold-up Men.

Photographic Flash Light is Cause of Injury.

Fall Proves Fatal to Lamanda Park Man.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Oct. 29.—Followed two miles in an automobile by hold-up men early today, J. M. Miller, 32 South Raymond avenue, finally escaped them because he drove a faster car.

Two men in a large touring car attempted to hold Miller up at Washington street and Fair Oaks avenue. Miller replied by stepping on the gas. The robbers increased their speed and the race was on.

Miller said the men nearly succeeded in forcing him to the curb and to a stop, but his car gradually gained on the robber vehicle. At the Foothill Boulevard the robbers gave up the race. He was unable to give the police a good description of the would-be highwaymen.

Evelyn Nesbit Out of Danger; Suicide Fails.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Evelyn Nesbit, who attempted suicide in her apartment over her tea room at 235 West Fifty-second street, was reported out of danger this morning. In order to prevent death from what remained in her system of the ten grains of morphine she took, she was kept walking all night.

Not until 7 o'clock this morning did Dr. Harold Rossman and her nurse permit her to lie down.

After a couple of hours of sleep, she awoke and came downstairs for something to eat. By messenger she received $300 from some source she would not disclose. This was the amount of the arrears in rent for lack of which she was facing eviction when she took morphine. She said the notoriety had nearly ruined her business, but as soon as she put it on its feet, she was going to Pittsburg for a rest.

Miss Nesbit's mother, Mrs. C. J. Holman, came on from Pittsburg and took charge of the business affairs of the restaurant.

SUES CHAPLIN FOR ALLEGED PLAGIARISM.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Alleging that one of Charlie Chaplin's most famous films, "Shoulder Arms," was a plagiarism of his own ideas, Leo Loeb, of the Bronx, today filed suit for $50,000 against the cinema star.

Loeb charges that "Shoulder Arms" is taken from his scenario, "The Rookie."

Loeb's counsel, Silas W. Solifrey, started proceedings in the Supreme Court. Chaplin's attorney, Nathan Burkan, will ask Supreme Court Justice Giegerich Monday for a change of venue from the State Supreme Court to the United States Court, Southern District, on the ground that Chaplin has but a temporary residence in the United States and is a subject of Great Britain.

Loeb wants an accounting of profits of the film and costs of the suit.

JAP LEADERS WILL MEET.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

(BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

TOKIO, Oct. 29.—As a preliminary to the Washington Conference on Disarmament and the Far East the invisible power which dominates Japanese politics—the largest taxpayers and, therefore, the largest voters, big business of Japan—will hold a meeting in Chicago which will lay down the policy to be pursued by the official Japanese delegates in the Washington capital.

Dr. Takuma Dan, managing director of the vast Mitsui interests, who is the head of the business delegation which will keep a watchful eye on the conference, was delayed here after the delegation left for important conferences but he will reach Seattle on Monday, from where he will hasten to join his fellow-members in Chicago.

TAKES FATEFUL MESSAGE.

Dr. Dan is bearing to his associates a fateful message. This fateful message is the Japanese budget. One reason for his delay was to obtain the latest data regarding the budget to present to the delegation at the Chicago meeting.

The following figures show that it is estimated the budget will total more than 1,600,000,000 yen ($800,000,000) and a grave doubt has been expressed as to the government's ability to realize this sum. Therefore after discussing with the delegates, representing the greatest sources of income in Japan, it is certain that the plenipotentiaries will be impressed with the absolute necessity for effecting an agreement for the reduction of armament, even though Japan concedes more than the militarists are now willing.

FOR ARMY AND NAVY.

The estimates show that the army and navy will require almost half the annual income, but as this year there have been additional appropriations, so, with the rising costs, new construction will require more unless an agreement is reached in Washington.

The navy consents to reduce its budget by 20,000,000 yen ($10,000,000) by laying up vessels and decreasing flag officers, but, including the construction work, which it is estimated will cost more than 273,000,000 yen ($136,500,000,) about 500,000,000 yen ($250,000,000) will be required.

The army, on the other hand, remains recalcitrant, insisting on 287,000,000 yen ($142,500,000,) this being an increase of 24,000,000 yen ($12,000,000) despite the expected withdrawal in Siberia, which costs 100,000,000 yen ($50,000,000) annually. In this connection the visit to the General Staff today of Crown Prince Hirohito is significant as he is believed to be inclined to Premier Hara's view that reduction is imperative.

TOTAL AMOUNT.

The total army and navy estimate is 766,000,000 yen ($383,000,000,) while the education department receives but 67,000,000 yen ($33,500,000,) although this is an increase of 11,000,000 yen ($5,500,000) obtained through decreases in other departments. Finance Minister Takahashi frankly is dubious of the ability of Japan to realize the budget estimated so it is absolutely necessary to make concessions at Washington to obtain an agreement. Therefore in addition to naval concessions it appears as if concessions must be made in Asia, compelling the army to consent to a decrease while possibly abandoning some advantages there.

However, Japan appears to be firm against yielding in Manchuria which, with the maritime province of Siberia, is the sole refuge for its surplus population since American and Australian doors are closed.

CAN COMPEL AGREEMENT.

Because of their firm hold on Japan's finances, the business delegates rapidly are becoming fully equal to the official plenipotentiaries as they have the power to compel an agreement in Washington.

Ambassador Warren has taken an especial interest in this movement, consulting at length with the leaders of the nation, particularly Dr. Dan and the great bankers, in order that they might understand something of the real purposes of the conference from the American viewpoint.

Anti-Ku Klux Party.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The Anti-Ku Klux Party will have a place on the ballot in the city election, November 8, the Board of Elections announced today. The party's only nominee is Edward S. Brogan, candidate for judge of general sessions court in Manhattan. An arrow is the party's emblem on the ballot.

WALTON, ELLIOTT MAY BE ASKED TO RESIGN.

There was a persistent rumor about the Federal Building yesterday, that United States Marshal Walton and Collector of Customs Elliott will be asked to hand in their resignations this week.

Mr. Walton, under his second commission, has until March, 1922, to serve, and Mr. Elliott, by virtue of a new four-year commission received when the San Diego district was created by a special act of Congress, has about three years to serve.

This was about the length of the unexpired term of Collector Pendleton, his predecessor, when he was lifted willy nilly out of the job by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo. Mr. Pendleton thought he ought to be allowed to serve his term, but on the orders of the Secretary, Frank Crutcher, chief clerk in the office of the collector, since deceased, was ordered to take possession of the office and pay no money to Mr. Pendleton as salary. It is now argued that what was sauce for the goose in the fall of 1913 ought to be sauce for the gander this year.

The resignation of Internal Revenue Collector Carter was forwarded immediately after the inauguration of President Harding.

Charley Dean's Spectacular Run is Feature.

Pomona Manages to Cross in Last Few Moments.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Recently, down on the old Imperial Valley farm, Old Man Dean asked his son Charley to walk out behind the barn and bring him the garden hoe.

The obedient but tired son opined that it was too far to walk, and begged off. But yesterday son Charley with a football tucked under his arm ran and dodged and ducked and shifted and straight-armed his way eighty yards through a human maelstrom of tough human bodies, and it was a mighty warm afternoon at that.

Young Mr. Dean as a simple child of the soil and as a football captain has two separate and distinct personalities.

The above incident is mentioned chiefly because it resulted in one of numerous touchdowns, and was the longest and most spectacular run featuring the University of Southern California's 35-to-7 victory over Pomona College on Bovard Field yesterday afternoon—the largest score ever compiled against a team with which Coach Eugene Nixon has been affiliated in twenty years of gridiron activity either as a player or mentor.

BY CHARLES WEST.

The Occidental Tigers gave vent to all the pent-up fury of three defeats yesterday afternoon at Patterson Field, emerging from their annual frolic with the Southern Branch staggering under the loaded portion of a 35-to-0 score. It was Oxy's first taste of blood this season, and the bleacher bugs were dizzy from the effects, while the Cub pigskinners accepted their customary trouncing only after a hard and disheartening fight.

Pipal's eleven, with the kind assistance of one of California's many fumbles, made the first score of the afternoon within two minutes after Referee Jack Wells trilled the opening tweet on his whistle and sprinkled touchdowns through the rest of the fracas at frequent intervals.

Of the five touchdowns that the Orange and Black warriors counted for, only three were properly earned, the others coming by flukes. However, the Tigers deserved the victory through the fight they made when battling on the threshold of their goal.

PERFORMS WELL.

Leonard Walker, Oxy's tow-headed halfback, takes all the medals for individual class, although Walt Long and Chubby Cory, his teammates, and Chuck Marston, Myrick and Jack Frost of the Cubs pushed him hard for the honors. Walker was Occidental's most dependable back on offense and was a hard tackler. He also made two touchdowns. The way little Walt Long

Aubrey Devine Puts Iowa Out in the Front.

LAFAYETTE (Ind.) Oct. 29.—Aubrey Devine, Iowa's star quarterback, put his team out in front of Purdue after a hard struggle on a muddy field today, the final score being, 13 to 6, in favor of the Hawkeyes.

Iowa scored its first touchdown in the second quarter when Devine sent a pass to Belding behind the Purdue goal. Devine kicked goal. The second Iowa marker came in the third period. Purdue played heroically, and near the close of the game Meeker was shoved across for the first touchdown that Purdue has scored this season.

GOLDEN GALE IS A FLIVVER.

Georgia Grid Whirlwind is Only a Zephyr.

Penn State Takes All Breeze Out of Southerners.

Yellow Jackets Outplayed and Outwitted.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. — The Golden Tornado turned out to be only a gentle zephyr from the South, the kind of breeze that made the southern exposure famous. It was nothing to write back to Georgia about, the whirlwind that blew up from Georgia Tech today, for Penn State found the gale singularly refreshing and chalked up as decisive a victory as any football gridiron has seen this year. The score was 28 to 7, four touchdowns to one, a margin that tells in itself the story of today's game at the Polo Grounds.

The Mayor of Atlanta was there, sitting in as the official representative of the South, but all that he could see was a whirl of Penn State bodies grinding over the Georgia crackers and hurtling through the Southerners for a touchdown in each quarter. Penn State strung its scores as neatly as the jeweler his pearls, and there was not a single period, barring probably the first, when the Yellowjackets were not outplayed, outrushed and outwitted.

NORTH VS. SOUTH.

The first big game of the season at the Polo Grounds was more than a football game. It was the North against the South in probably the greatest intersectional battle of the year and delegations of lusty-lunged rooters from each school made long journeys.

It was a spectacular game and not many gridironers will see a better one. Georgia Tech's surprisingly weak resistance to the ripping attack of Penn State robbed the tussle of some of its thrills, but the latter's gallant rally in the first quarter, the startling playing of Killenger, long forward passes that often found their mark and dashing swoops through the line and around the ends, lifted the contest out of the ordinary.

IS HIGH SPOT.

A long, flashing run by Quarterback Killenger, nearly the entire length of the field, was the high spot of the engagement. It sent the Georgians down with a thud, galvanized Penn State's worthies into a determined, unstoppable eleven and changed the whole complexion of the game.

Statistics best tell the story of how State tamed the tornado. In pure rushing plays the northerners covered a total distance of 256 yards, more than 100 yards greater that Tech's total — 147. The forward pass—a very effective weapon for Bezdeck's youths — brought a gain of 105 yards. Tech made only eleven yards and one successful pass out of seven attempts. State completed eight of its fifteen tries over the aerial route and paved the way for its third and fourth scores by as remarkable an exhibition of passing as has been seen in the East for a long time.

DARTMOUTH SPANKED HARD.

Cornell Throws it Into Opponents With Ridiculous Ease Changing Things Into a Rout.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ITHACA (N. Y.) Oct. 29.—Cornell proved its right to a place in the football sun today when, before a crowd of 20,000 persons, one of the largest, in local athletic history, the Dartmouth eleven was crushed by a score of 59 to 7. After the first half it was not a football contest, it was a rout.

Nervous at first, the backs fumbled four times in the first period. The Ithacans slowed down quickly and unleashed a terrific rushing and running attack that smothered the weak Dartmouth line, ripping it wide open from tackle to tackle.

STRAIGHT GRID.

Employing straight football for the most part, with an occasional delayed pass for a short line plunge, a forward pass or two when they were most needed, this greatest Cornell machine that Ithaca has seen since the championship eleven in 1915, wore Dartmouth out in the first half and then in the second turned loose a bewildering series of off-tackle and wide runs with Eddie Kaw and Pfann making 25 and 30 and 35 yards at a time that turned defeat into a complete rout. In the last period the margin of superiority was so impressive that the massed Cornell cohorts in the stands were almost awed by the greatness of the Cornell victory, and the game was so one-sided that enthusiasm was almost pointless.

The line-up:

Cornell (59.)		Dartmouth (7.)
Cassidy	L.E.	G. Moore
Hanson	L.T.	Hatch
Brayman	L.G.	B. Moore

BENGALS AGAIN VICTORIOUS.

For Fifth Straight Time This Week Vernon Shatters Mission—Blenkiron Makes Big Hit.

BY ED O'MALLEY.

Vernon appears to have a letters patent on beating Harry Heilman's Mission lads, for the Tigers turned the trick again yesterday, 3 to 2.

This defeat was the fifth straight suffered by the visitors from the north this week and they will have to go some from now on to get into the running again.

DELL THERE.

Wheezer Dell was on the mound for Sisler and heaved his usual steady game. He faltered for a moment in the first of the eighth frame when after two were down, French tripled. Heilman was the next man up and the crowd called on Harry for one of his famous swats. It was a critical moment for Wheeze.

A tally would tie the score and an extra innings contest might have followed. Heilman hit the ball good and hard, but nifty Claude Cooper who centers for the Bengals got after it and snared it amid shouts from Vernon rooters. This was the swan song of the Mission lads and the game was practically over then and there.

PADDY FUMBLES.

Walter Leverenz projected for the visitors and did fairly well. His worst session was the second which runs something like this: Cooper was safe at first on Siglin's fumble of his sharp grounder. Wolfer hit a fly between Miller and Compton. The play looked as if it were meant for Compton, but Pete threw the responsibility on Hack's broad shoulders with the result that Hack, on the full stretch, made an inglorious muff and then followed the bobble with a wild throw, Cooper galloping to third and Wolfer to second.

Sisler darted a fast one at Siglin and was out on Paddy's throw to Heilman, Cooper scoring on the play. Smith sent a long one to Compton, Wolfer scoring after the catch. Knight was an easy out, French to Heilman. Vernon made their third and last tally in the third canto on Wolfer and Sisler's singles and Smith's squeeze play.

SMASHES FENCE.

The visitors' first run was made in the second inning when Miller jolted one over Sawyer's head in right, which smashed against the fence and rebounded toward the infield. Hack reached third when Knight threw wild to Smith, the ball going into the Mission dugout. Umpire Toman motioned Miller to come home and Hack came.

CONVINCED OF CHICAGO'S CLASS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—The light but plucky University of Colorado eleven, outstanding team of the Rocky Mountain conference, returned home tonight convinced that Chicago's 9-to-0 triumph over Princeton a week ago was no fluke.

Coach Stagg's warriors scored a 35-to-0 victory over the westerners on a rain-soaked field today before a crowd of 15,000. The Colorado eleven, although game and fast, was no match for the heavy Chicagoans, who outplayed the visitors all the way.

Illinois is Defeated by a Place Kick.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

URBANA (Ill.) Oct. 29.—Frank Steketee's boot carried Michigan to victory over Illinois today, 3 to 0. He outpunted Durant, of the Illinois, and scored Michigan's lone tally near the end of the first half when he kicked from placement on the fifteen-yard line.

Michigan set out to rush the Illini, but were forced to punt frequently.

Hueston of Los Angeles, former world's champion, took third place with six wins, and three games lost, while there was a triple tie for fourth place. Those tied were Bennie Allen, Kansas City, former champion; Walter Franklin, Kansas City, and Arthur Church. The fourth and fifth prizes were divided among the three.

BEARS MAKE CLEAR TRACK.

hugged to his breast. Toomey kicked the goal and the California rooters breathed easily for the first time all afternoon. Washington State had battled so skillfully and so desperately that that score was mighty welcome to the California men.

SPOILS A SET-UP.

In the third quarter, Bell replaced Morrison and he was in there just long enough to fumble at the wrong time, spoiling a nice set-up for a score. That was the only substitution made by California. In that quarter the Statue of Liberty play was tried, but Bell's throw was a trifle short. In that quarter, too, Washington State got away with the best pass of the game, a 30-yard heave from Jenne to Hickey. Stephens hit Hickey so hard that he dropped the ball, but Bohanon recovered it. That California stone wall withstood every shock, and Jennie had to kick again.

In that third quarter Erb intercepted a Washington pass and McIvor grabbed one of California's heaves, but Dan McMillan was on him like an avalanche before he could get away. All during that quarter Jenne kept trying to get away with an on-side kick, but he put a little too much power in his boots and drove the ball over the goal line each time. Toomey was foxy enough not to catch them.

SECOND BREAK.

The second break of the game was in the fourth quarter, when McIvor fumbled one of Nisbet's long punts. Stan Barnes was on the ball like a hawk. There is where the training shows, following that ball the way the California men do.

Or the first line-up after that bit of good fortune the old criss-cross was tried and Toomey nearly got clear. He made a substantial gain and the Bears began sniffing another score. Morrison and Nisbit hit the line hard and then Toomey sneaked around Washington State left end for the second touchdown. He was crowded so closely that he literally hurled himself through the air to get over the line and he fell with a smash. Erb kicked the goal.

Erb showed his generalship in the making of both of those touchdowns. California was within the ten-yard line each time and the Washington men had a right to expect a line buck. They were bunched for it and braced for it, but it did not come. Instead, a slim figure bearing the lucky number 13 on his back, went streaking around the end with Erb and Morrison putting up fine interference for him. Erb out-tricked the Washington men both times and the Washington men are coached by one of the trickiest Indians in the game.

ERB BLOCKS PASSES.

It was all over after that second touchdown. Washington State in desperation began heaving forward passes, and Erb kept knocking the ball down. Of the seven passes tried in rapid succession, only one was completed, Hickey grabbing a throw from Skadan good for twenty-five yards.

California was on its way for another touchdown when the final whistle blew for Toomey was twisting and squirming along for good yardage, but there was not time enough left to do the trick.

The game was one of the hardest ever played on this Coast, but the boys on both teams played absolutely clean football. There was only one penalty in the game, California being penalized fifteen yards for holding.

The surprising thing was that Coach Gus Welch did not use Moe Sax, his great open-field runner in that last quarter, anyway. In a kicking game of that kind, there was always a chance for a man like Sax to get away. But Sax stayed on the bench when Skadan was sent in to relieve McIvor, who ran the team most of the game. Sax was not hurt so it is hard to understand why he was not used.

IN GOOD SHAPE.

The California men came out of the fray in good shape. The weather was perfect, and the field was fast, even if the footing was a bit treacherous, thus slowing a fast dodger like Toomey.

The play of the two lines was magnificent. It was mighty hard to gain ground through either line, but it was noticeable that when California got within striking distance, they had the required punch even if it was like pulling teeth to get the necessary yardage.

Washington State wiped out the disgrace of that 49-0 defeat of last year, but had to bow to a better team again today.

The Bears are just beginning to feel their power this year and from now on they will be mighty hard to beat.

DON'T MISS MULLER.

Stephens and Berkey had to work like truck horses going down under the many punts and they did their work magnificently. Brick Muller himself could not have played right end any better than Brodie Stephens did today. His work was simply perfect.

Little Don Nichols had to sit on the bench and watch the game, but his injured ankle should be all right so that he can shine against U.S.C. next Saturday.

Gov. Hart and Lieut.-Gov. Coyle of Washington and Gov. Olcott of Oregon saw the game. So did U. S. Senator Poindexter of Washington. He was pulling for Pullman.

ANGELS LOSE FIRST AND WIN SECOND.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—Los Angeles and San Francisco broke even today in the Winter League double-header staged at Recreation Park. The Ty Cobb aggregation took the first game by the lop-sided score of 12 to 3, and the boys from Hornsbyville returned the compliment in the second session when they were victors, 10 to 8.

LOSE CONTROL OF TROTTLE.

Engineers in a Wreck at the Town of Whittier.

Poets Cuff and Demoralize Fox Stanton's Pets.

Thompson Begins the Work of Fell Disaster.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WHITTIER, Oct. 29.—The powerful Whittier College football eleven left nothing to the imagination on Hadley Field this afternoon when they lambasted "Fox" Stanton's Caltek Engineers to the heart-rending tune of 39-0. From the moment a lightning-footed Poet halfback named "Puss" Thompson blazed a dizzy trail to a touchdown and everlasting glory through forty-six yards of wrecked Engineers in the opening minutes of play, Caltek never had a chance. The Yellow machine skidded badly in the first half when it crashed into a couple of Whittier touchdowns, righted itself, ran on into the second half and turned turtle.

Dazed by an offense they could not fathom and a powerful defense, the Engineers couldn't stop the Quakers when once they got going. The Poet eleven played the best football it has displayed this year. Good interference and splendid blocking allowed Whittier's star halfbacks, Thompson and Suggett, to shine to perfection. Thompson registered twice in the first half. The first score came after a drive of forty-six yards through the entire Caltek eleven and the second a few moments later on an end run for fifty yards.

MUFFS OVAL.

Suggett took the Engineers' boot in the opening of the second half, muffed the oval, picked it up, took his time in picking a path and then got away for a run of ninety-five yards and another score. A few minutes and Suggett scored again on the prettiest end run of the afternoon, carrying the ball a distance of fifty yards. Thompson took his turn again and scored on a twenty-five-yard gain through trackle.

With the score 32-0 and the third quarter almost over, the Poets pulled in their ears and let a string of subs take over the job. "Red" Rohrbaugh, playing Suggett's half, had to get in on the scoring and went over on an off-tackle play in the dwindling minutes of the last spasm.

ARE NERVOUS.

The Poet eleven started the game with the expectation of having a hard battle. They showed this plainly. Nervousness caused considerable poor handling of the ball on both sides. Tech was never able to gain consistently. They attempted pass after pass and got away with a good many of them. By this means they made four of their six first downs. Two of them came from straight football.

Whittier made fourteen first downs from scrimmage, in addition to the numerous long runs that resulted in touchdowns. Only one of the Poets' score, the last one, came through short bucks and hard-fought gains. Never in the history of the old Quaker gridiron have so many lengthy gains been uncorked.

AGGIES ARE DEFEATED.

Stanford Upsets Predictions and Knocks Northwesterners Out of Championship Race.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY (Cal.) Oct. 29.—Once again Stanford upset predictions and won, 14 to 7, here today from the Oregon Aggies in the Cardinal's first Pacific Coast conference football game of the year.

The defeat practically eliminated the Oregon Aggies from the conference race, which they had really hoped to win, and it is believed will make the annual "big game" between Stanford and the University of California here November 19 a fight for the conference title, as it was in 1920.

Sensational running by Bob Schlaudemann, quarterback, and Art Wilcox, left halfback, featured the Cardinal's attack. Capt. Powell, O. A. C. fullback, and Summers, halfback, made consistent gains against Stanford, but were unable to get by the Cardinal defense when goals were threatened.

The Aggies today proved themselves to be as heavy, powerful and heady as reports from the north said they were, but Stanford, by no means the favorite before the game, sent onto the field a superior line and a backfield which worked together like a machine.

The first Stanford score and the lone Aggie touchdown were made from forward passes, Schlaudemann and Mertz making the first Cardinal score and Kassberger and Summers scoring for the visitors. The deciding tally was made when Patrick caught Kassberger's forward pass on the O.A.C. twenty-yard line and ran through a broken field to a touchdown.

Mrs. Bundy is Easy Winner in the North.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—May Sutton Bundy, greatest of all America's woman tennis stars, won today from Helen Wills, junior champion of the United States, in the feature match of the University of California stadium drive tennis at the Berkeley Tennis Club. The scores were 6-2, and 6-3.

Mrs. Bundy showed the same steadiness and determination that characterized her game in the past. Against this combination Miss Wills was powerless, though her showing was none the less creditable. Only for a short period in the second set did the little school girl champion appear to have a look-in; the rest of the way it was all Mrs. Bundy.

VIRGINIA SURE EASY PICKINGS.

Old Princeton Tigers Shove Their Claws Deep.

Southerners Are Too Anxious Most of the Way.

Bengals, Full of Zep, Force Play From Start.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PRINCETON (N. J.) Oct. 29.—Princeton's football eleven looked like real Tigers today for the first time this season. Minus the services of Don Lourie, regular quarterback, the Orange and Black, which was defeated by the Navy and Chicago on successive weeks, trimmed Virginia in impressive fashion this afternoon, by the score of 34 to 0.

The Bengals forced the play from the very start, registering the first of their four touchdowns within the first five minutes after the opening whistle had blown. The southerners never had a chance except for a few minutes at the opening of the fourth quarter when a spectacular series of forward passes advanced the ball to Princeton's one-foot line.

TOO ANXIOUS.

The Virginians were too anxious, however, and were set back five yards on an off-side play, when they tried to storm the Tiger line for the necessary twelve inches. The aerial route was tried again on the next play, but a pass over the goal line failed and with it the visitors' hopes of penetrating the Orange and Black defense for a score faded.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—The excitement of watching the University of Chicago football eleven win over the University of Colorado team today proved fatal to John T. Heister of this city. He dropped dead in the stands of heart disease.

SANTA ANA IS VICTORIOUS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA ANA, Oct. 29. — Santa Ana High School plowed through Fullerton's line here this afternoon and won a hard-fought football game by a score of 7 to 0. This virtually gives Santa Ana the championship of the Orange League and a place in the Southern California semifinals, as Fullerton was admittedly her strongest competitor. Many business houses in both cities were closed for the occasion, and the largest football crowd in history gathered for the fray.

Although occasional fumbles on the part of both teams marred the game in spots, sensational features and steady plugging were the order of the day for both teams. One of the features of the game was the stone wall defense of the Santa Ana line, holding the fast Fullerton backfield at all times and forcing them to rely on punts and passes for their few large gains.

With only two small schools left to play in the Orange League and both of these teams light and inexperienced, the game yesterday afternoon virtually gives Santa Ana the Orange League championship. The only game lost by Santa Ana for the entire season was to Los Angeles High School early in the season by a score of 7 to 0. "Spud" Morrison is hopeful that his charges will make a good showing in the race for the Southern California championship. With a world of material and lots of fight the team is showing up bigger and better than in several years and Morrison hopes to make a clean sweep through to the end of the season. The line-up:

TROJANS CUFF THE SAGEHENS.

Capt. Dean, who was too tired to carry a hoe in from behind the barn, ran hither and yon around the field on numerous occasions aside from the incident mentioned, and at an off-hand guess is estimated to have carried the ball about four miles in the right direction, and as remarked, it was more than a tolerably warm day. Thus do our colleges reach out, and snatching the simple and listless child of the soil off the farm, shoot him full of ambition and hope. Charley might have carried the ball wider and farther, but he was not in the game all the time. At one time or another, Gloomy Gus Henderson, politely known as Pessimistic Pete, had most of his first-string men sitting in the wings watching the reserves pluck foliage from the Sagehens.

Three minutes after Swede Evans had touched the spheroid into life with a bunch of trained toes in the opening kickoff, the Blue and White had thrown itself futilely against the U.S.C. defense and found it impervious. There had been an exchange of punts, Dean had dodged twenty yards, placing the ball almost within the shadow of the visitor's goal, and Howard Kincaid had shouldered and writhed his way the remaining four yards to the first touchdown of the game.

A BRIEF FLASH.

The Trojans in one brief flash had shown their complete mastery of the game boys from down-country. Certain they could win as they please and that this supremacy could not be challenged, they were content to coast along easily always in enemy territory on a 7-to-0 basis until the opening of the second half, when there was a staccato barking of signals, a few swift, shifting dashes, the impact of hard, muscular bodies, a few disentanglements, and another touchdown was laid behind the line.

The Trojans cut loose in the final quarter, and three times penetrated the Blue and White barrier for scores. Leadingham, Dean and Kincaid each thrust the ball across once, and Jimmy Woodward, sitting in for Phil Tiernan, twice carried the spheroid across the ultimate chalk mark.

U.S.C. won as it pleased. The Trojans had more men, and men of greater experience and skill. But we pause right here to remark that down at Claremont they raise a species of Sagehen, which would spit in the eye of a catamount. And it was this spirit which carried the Pomona phalanx through and around and ocer the Trojan colussus in the closing moments of play for the first score registered against the southern university this season.

POMONA SCORES.

Pomona's big moment emerged from the lengthening shadows of a late afternoon, shadows which seemed to blend appropriately with the Christian resignation which settled over the Blue and White section, with the accent on the blue.

Nixon had four veterans, Denebrink, Baker, Voorhies and Wilson, and while the newer hands did yoemen service, the bulk of the Blue and White burden rested on these four men. Denebrink and Baker crushed many a Trojan assault into the earth, and then in the final moments of play, Voorhies and Wilson, swift and elusive, drew on every ounce of their strength and skill, and the heretofore impregnable university defense had been penetrated by land and by air just long enough and just far enough for a score.

Voohries broke from the pack in mid-field, skirting the left end, ran and plunged thirty-five yards into the Cardinal and Gold sector. About one minute to play, and the Pomona line and backfield became vibrant with the thought of this last lone, lean chance. U.S.C. overanxious, a figure in the line made a premature more precious yards toward the U. ficial. The ball was moved five more precious yards toward the U. S.C. line. Two forward passes over the line were buffeted back by the fist of a leaping Trojan athlete. A third time the ball shot over the helmeted Trojan heads, spiraled by the band of Voorhies. Vaulting high, Wilson cradled his arms about the ball, and running far around the end to his right, eluded half a dozen tacklers by inches, and escaping the clutching, slipping fingers, flashed across the heretofore unsullied Trojan line, a thing as elusive as the Golden Fleece.

Tiernan showed great form while he remained in the game and must figure heavily in the U.S.C. plans.

TWO FIRST DOWNS.

Pomona made only two first downs in the game, and one of these with the aid of a penalty against U.S.C. U.S.C. made downs thirteen times in the first half, and most of the time was playing purely a safety game.

Henderson has a triple stone-wall defense on land, but the Trojans displayed no great ability to combat an aerial attack. Their own ground attack was intensely disappointing at times, their backs being nailed almost before they started, or sharply repulsed when they hit the line. At other times the Trojans displayed a versatile, practically irresistible attack, shifty in the open and terrifically compact when driving through the line.

Nobody as yet has a real line on the real U.S.C. "form." All season it has played in flashes. Are these flashes its real form, or are the lethargic periods between the flashes its real form? Californians must provide the answer.

The line-up:

BABY BRUINS LOSE TO OXY.

conducted himself yesterday brought tears of joy to Joe Pipal's eyes, and Cory played a brilliant game on defense.

The rest of the Tiger team displayed occasional streaks of real football, but for the most part played indifferently. Three times the Bengals defended their goal on their own 3-yard line, and each time successfully repulsed the frantic attack of the Cubs. When the Tiger was playing in dangerous territory he got up on his hind legs and snorted, but exhibited sloppy teamwork in the middle of the field.

Fullback Peeke almost got away for a touchdown shortly after Oxy had pushed across the first score. An Occidental back dropped the pigskin when tackled, and Peeke charged in, scooped up the ball, and was half way to the Orange and Black goal posts before the Tigers comprehended the situation. Cory then went into action, propelling his portly frame over the tanbark with remarkable rapidity, and dragged Peek down inches away from the chalk mark.

LAWYER SCORES.

Lawyer, Oxy's fullback, was more successful in his maneuvering, recovering one of the Bear's bobbles in mid field, and turning it into a touchdown.

Art Gary played during the last five minutes of the affair, in which time he scored twice. Gary will be a big asset to the Occidental eleven, for in spite of his weight, he is a fast stepper. Spangler played only a few minutes, and didn't have much of an opportunity to perform.

The large number of fumbles and penalties indicated the raggedness of the game, and the Tigers really won because the Cubs were worse than they were.

The line-up:

S.B.U.C.		Occidental.

Jones for Roselle; for Occidental, Taube for Herr, Dunlap for D. Walker, Goodenough for Argue, McCloskey for Davidson, Gary for Lawyer, Spangler for Kendall.

Touchdowns, Walker, 2; Gary, 2; Lawyer. Goals kicked, Cory, 5.

LOYOLA PIGSKINNERS SMEAR SANTA MONICA.

Loyola College mauled Santa Monica around on the gridiron yesterday afternoon, and collected nine points while the beach city lads were making three. A safety, scored in the opening quarter, and a touchdown by Bradstreet in the final period counted for the Catholics' digits, while Hanford made Santa Monica's three points in the first quarter by a drop-kick. HOSS LINIMENT CURES MARSHAL.

Ought to be Dead, But His Rheumatiz Better; Whisky Not Needed.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LIBERTYVILLE (Ill.) Oct. 29.—Village Marshal Lemberry ought to be dead, but he only finds his "rheumatiz" is lots better.

Yesterday he went to the local pharmacist to get a "pescription" filled. He grew tired waiting and while the druggist was waiting on another customer he walked behind the prescription counter and took a swig of "his" medicine. He liked it. He tried it again. The third swallow seemed to set him on fire, but his "rheumatiz" felt better.

At the doctor's office it was found the prescription was horse liniment to be applied externally. Lemberry had swallowed enough to kill, but was "feelin' a mite better already."

Detective Cato: We have a right to park here, but if you want to flush the gutter we will move.

Detective Cato moves the automobile about two feet, but remains in the shade of the tree.

Miss Kilby: Get that automobile away from here. I know that all you are trying to do is stay in the shade of my tree.

Detective Cato: Sure I want to stay in the shade of your tree and the only way you will be able to prevent me is to cut the tree down.

Miss Kilby: Is that so?

Without warning she turns the full force of the water in Detective Cato's face and pins him behind the wheel of his automobile. He opens his mouth and almost drowns.

Detective Cahill: Stick with it Bill, I'm going to help you.

Miss Kilby: Come on out and try it.

Detective Cahill falls over the side of the automobile and dashes toward Miss Kilby.

Miss Kilby: Help! Murder! Police!

KEEPS TWO AT BAY.

Miss Kilby keeps the water turned on Detective Cato with one hand and scratches Detective Cahill on the face with the other.

Detective Cline: All together boys, we'll get her.

Detective Cline falls out of the other side of the automobile and joins in the attack.

The three police officers close in on Miss Kilby and seize her. She is placed in the automobile and is carried away screaming.

Scene II. Detectives' office, Central Police Station. Time, 1 p.m.

Detective Cahill, bleeding from the hands and face, Detective Cato dripping with water and minus a hat, Detective Cline holding Miss Kilby.

Detective Cato: Now, Miss Kilby, see where you are. You are under arrest and I am going to lock you up. Look at my clothes. Look at Cahill.

Detective Cahill: Yes, look at me.

Miss Kilby: Well, why didn't you move when I told you to? I said would move you and I guess I did.

Detective Cline: Take her away, boys. Charge her with battery. Bail $50.

Miss Kilby was led away to jail.

SEEK MISSING WOMAN.

Detectives Hunt Church Worker Who Disappeared Thursday.

Search for Miss Honorine La Gier, aged 35 years, living at 924 Winfield street, was begun yesterday by Nick Harris detectives in addition to the police who also have been notified of her disappearance last Thursday evening about 6:30 p.m. She was last seen on West Sixth street between Olive and Hill streets and at that time was going to visit some friends in the city.

Neither Mrs. Ester A. West, her sister, nor A. F. La Gier, her brother, know of any reason why Miss La Gier should leave home without notifying them and they declare she left home with only some change in her purse and apparently in good spirits. Miss La Gier has been active in Catholic work and had no troubles, her relatives say.

When last seen she was wearing a black satin dress, a dark velvet Napoleon style hat with a black feather, black satin pumps, black stockings, black earrings, a cameo ring and two small diamond rings. The telephone number at the La Gier home is 554894.

APPROVES VETERANS.

United States Bureau Names Eleven Men for Vocational Training.

The following men have been approved under the Rehabilitation Act by the United States Veterans' Bureau for vocational training courses, it was announced yesterday: James C. Bowles, Fernando F. Bloomnorst, Ernest Earl Breckenridge, Howard D. Chase, Thomas W. Davis, Walter L. Gatten, John Harley Hull, Andrew O'Brien, Clyde G. Figg, David A. Seibert and Elsie L. Weeks. These veterans should get in touch with the Veterans' Bureau, 322 Pacific Mutual Building, at once, it was stated.

SUING WIFE ASSERTS SPOUSE DECEIVED HER.

Whether Charles A. G. Blossom loved his wife, Mrs. Laura S. Fowle Blossom, is not stated, but he represented himself as a member of a number of prominent clubs, a graduate of Harvard and a member of the Massachusetts bar, according to annulment proceedings instituted yesterday by Mrs. Blossom. The husband was none of the things he represented himself to be, the complaint avers. Another act of deceit he practiced, according to the complaint, is that he said he divorced his former wife. Mrs. Blossom says the first wife divorced him.

EXHIBIT MECCA FOR THOUSANDS.

Flower Show at Exposition Park Ends Tonight.

Arrangements Made to Care for Huge Throng.

Two Concerts to be Given in Afternoon, Evening.

When the lights fade out at midnight on the flower show at Exposition Park it is estimated that 150,000 persons will have visited the grounds. Today is All-California Day at the park and thousands of visitors are expected from all over the State, in addition to the great numbers that will go from Los Angeles and surrounding cities. Everything is in readiness for the day, all the more perishable blossoms having been replenished, the grounds made spotlessly clean, the cafe prepared to care for 600 persons at a time, and an entertainment, equal to any yet given, provided for the guests.

A concert will be given from 2 to 5 and from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. Among the entertainers are Bessie Lyons, prima donna of "Chocolate Soldier" fame; Olive DuVall in a "Dance of the Flowers;" Antoinette Morena, lithsome Spanish dancer, and instrumental soloists of the Greater Los Angeles Municipal Band, directed by Antonio Sarli.

CROWD AT SHOW.

The exhibit was patronized yesterday by more than 10,000 persons whose expressions of wonder and delight were only repetitions of the commendations of the visitors for the last ten days. Ten acres of beauty — that is the California Flower Show and Horticultural Exhibition. From the time one enters the main tent, in the center of which stands the Goddess of Nature, surrounded by flowers of every variety, until he has passed through the splendid industrial section and out into the sunken gardens, one is filled with inspiration, almost intoxicated with the fragrance of the air.

Flowers and music and children—they belong together and they were seen and heard together yesterday for little girls and boys visited the show by hundreds. In such an atmosphere as this, it is no wonder that Mrs. Dorothy Rice, who had been silently standing and gazing upon a tall red rose, suddenly turned to a friend and smilingly said, "Just then I thought I saw the happy face of Paul de Longpre."

BACKERS PLEASED.

"We are all more than pleased with the result of the big exhibition," yesterday said Roy F. Wilcox president of the California Association of Nurserymen, sponsers for the flower show. "Steps probably will be taken shortly looking toward the establishment of a similar exhibit annually. Purely as an educational institution there is every reason why it should be continued.

"Thousands of school children have gone away from these grounds with greater knowledge, and their visits to and interest in such exhibits as this helps them to envision the wonderful homes,' gardens parks, streets and lawns, which they, as future citizens, will one day construct for Los Angeles and the Southland.

"The fine exhibits from all over California should be seen by every one, and especially by those interested in horticulture. I believe that tomorrow will be the biggest day ever and every preparation has been made to give the visitors a grand time. Also, it is to be hoped that those who have not yet seen the place illumined at night will remain until dark, for if they don't, they're going to miss one of the wonder sights of the year."

AERIAL TRAMWAY TO HAUL SAND.

Coyote Wells in Imperial Valley to be Connected With Railroad.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

EL CENTRO, Oct. 29.—An aerial tramway six miles long will be built in the San Jacinto Mountains near the southern border of California according to plans announced here. The purpose will be to connect Coyote Wells station on the San Diego and Arizona railway with deposits of marle and sand, the sand being 95 per cent silica, the type used in the manufacture of plate glass. Sand of this composition is being imported from Belgium by American glass manufacturers.

CASH GONE, HIGH FLYER ENDS ORGY.

Youth, Jailed, Says He is Son of Former President of Ecuador.

Francisco Gonez, aged 21 years, is in the County Jail on a charge of issuing fictitious checks and is waiting, somewhat impatiently, for his attorney, Frank McDonald, to check up on his story that he is the son of a former President of Ecuador and has influential relatives who will come to his rescue.

Gonez declares he fell heir less than a year ago to an eighth share of an estate valued at more than $1,000,000 and that he has spent all his money after a riotous seven or eight months' spree with a fascinating young girl. The spending orgy extended from Seattle to Los Angeles and back again, his story goes.

They hesitated at San Francisco on the return trip and then went to Seattle. Money had been spent with spendthrift abandon. The legacy was dwindling and the girl who had helped him spend it was growing cool in her protestations of love for him, which had formerly been so ardent. Gonez took inventory of his wealth. He had only $8000 left.

The end came speedily, for one night two men, showing badges and saying they were detectives, placed him and the girl under "arrest." Gonez was told that American laws did not countenance the traveling from one State to another of a man with a woman not his legal wife. He saw prison bars staring him in the face, and when the "officers" and the girl agreed to take his $8000 and forget the white slave charge he readily agreed.

Without money and with his former friends forgetting to recognize him after his misfortunes, Gonez was virtually without food or lodging. He cashed some checks on the bank where his account had been and drew out the small balance. Then he came to Los Angeles and cashed a $15 check in order to get something to eat, it is declared. A complaint was sworn out when it was discovered the check was worthless.

Thus the Latin who mastered his Greek and Latin in American schools, but who failed to "savvy" American ways, tells of his adventures and hopes his relatives soon will come to his rescue.

FIRE TRUCK IN BAD COLLISION

Three Injured When Apparatus Hits Pleasure Car.

Police Judge Puts Taboo on Peabody Prance.

Oil Worker May Die as Result of Injuries.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, Oct. 29.—Two persons were perhaps fatally injured and another is in a serious condition as a result of a collision this afternoon between an automobile and a fire department chemical truck en route to a grass fire.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Pacific avenue, on which street, the fire apparatus was proceeding north, and Seventh street, a through paved thoroughfare to the harbor.

Lieut. Herbert Wycherly, 34 years old, of the U.S.S. Tennessee, was driving the automobile which collided with the chemical machine. He sustained a fractured skull and is lying in an unconscious condition in a local hospital.

The naval officer's son, Allan, 4 years old, also sustained a fractured skull, a possible fracture of the pelvis, a rupture of the right ear drum and possible internal injuries. He also may die. Mrs. Mildred Wycherly, the mother and wife, the only other occupant of the passenger vehicle, sustained a concussion of the brain, deep cuts and bruises. She will recover. All are at the Seaside Hospital.

Both the pleasure car and the fire chemical truck were badly wrecked, although none of the firemen were seriously injured.

The fire apparatus was piloted by J. W. Moon. Dr. Ralph Taylor, former city health officer, who heard the crash at his home a block away, rendered first aid to the accident victims. Mrs. Wycherly lost a $1000 diamond, which was torn from its setting when the cars collided. Sorting over the broken glass and other refuse swept from the street after the wreck had been cleared away, Officer M. M. Richardson, found the valuable stone.

NO MORE PRANCE.

The Peabody Prance was given its death blow in Long Beach today when Police Judge Carl V. Hawkins found Mr. and Mrs. E. Schafani guilty of violating the local dance hall ordinance.

The couple rendered the Peabody exhibition in a local dance hall last week when they were arrested by Policewoman Lulu Straw on a charge of indecent dancing.

It is charged that Mr. Schafani, in doing the Peabody, clutched his wife by the hip, instead of keeping his hand above her waist line in accordance with the municipal regulations governing terpsichorean activies in public pavilions.

Sentence will not be imposed until Wednesday by Judge Hawkins. At that time Attorney E. E. Tincher, counsel for Mr. and Mrs. Schafani, may either ask for another trial or appeal the case to a higher court, it was learned this afternoon.

OIL WORKER INJURED.

Joseph Merrick, 55 years old, of Santa Ana, employed by the Shell Company of California in the Signal Hill field, was probably fatally injured this afternoon when struck on the head by a falling pipe. He was taken to the Seaside Hospital with a fractured skull. Attending physicians report his condition critical.

INVESTIGATE FIRES.

Authorities Suspect Blazes Started By Firebugs.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 29.—Mysterious barn fires in this county are causing an investigation to determine whether or not they are the work of incendiaries.

Last night a barn on El Capital ranch, twenty-two miles north of here, on the Coast highway, was destroyed by fire together with ninety tons of hay, forty-four sets of harness, a new automobile truck and other equipment. A bean house near by took fire and was saved with difficulty. The store house contains $20,000 worth of lima beans.

The night before a barn on the Fred Stewart ranch in Goleta was burned, resulting in the loss of a large amount of hay and beans, as well as eight horses. Barns in these sections are being closely watched tonight.

The seizure was made at Ninth and Wilshire Boulevard, and John Pugno was taken into custody on a charge of violating the Santa Monica liquor ordinance.

Twenty-four quart bottles of bootleg whisky are reported among the articles seized, together with two barrels of grape wine and an elaborate wine-making equipment. Mayor Brock made the opening address in which he stated the purpose of the exposition, to acquaint the purchasing power of the city with the stocks held here and the latest ideas for home making.

Miss Classie Marlowe and her group of young women held a style show, using materials from the stores here. Down the center of the tent and over the heads of the people a great runway has been built for the live models, who appear on it and also the stage. The merchants have decorated their booths in a most artistic manner and in connection with the style revue each afternoon and evening there is a musical program and vaudeville.

The afternoons are given over to pure food lectures, to demonstrations of food preparing and serving, to demonstrations in drapery making and kitchen articles and to the latest electrical appliances and their use.

Eclipse

Service First Profit a By Product

The Los Angeles Furniture Company in keeping with its progressive policy and at the conclusion of its "Fifty-first year of service" is pleased to announce that they have secured the famous line of Eclipse "Fresh Air" Oven Gas Ranges for the exclusive distribution in Los Angeles and Pasadena. This nationally advertised gas range with the ventilated oven is made by the Geo. D. Roper Corporation of Rockford, Illinois---the largest and oldest exclusive gas stove manufacturers in the world. This very complete line of Eclipse Ventilated Oven Gas Ranges is now on display at the Los Angeles Furniture Company at "introductory prices"

As sole representatives for Los Angeles and Pasadena, and with the same spirit of service that has always characterized our relations with our customers, we have pledged ourselves to uphold the guarantee by which the Geo. D. Roper Corporation insures the integrity of manufacture and the quality of materials that makes possible the supremacy of Eclipse gas ranges.

Those Eclipse patrons in Los Angeles and Pasadena who have already placed their approval on Eclipse gas ranges, as well as the women who are seeking greater efficiency and economy in cooking, are urged to visit our display rooms at The Los Angeles Furniture Company.

There will be a special demonstration of the Eclipse gas ranges at the Los Angeles Furniture Company, Wednesday afternoon, at which time Mrs. Kate Brew Vaughn—the famous Domestic Science expert—will explain the many exclusive features that make the Eclipse the highest type of modern gas range. Every woman in Los Angeles is urged to attend this special demonstration. There's going to be a real SURPRISE PACKAGE, of huge proportions, at this demonstration and its contents will be of especial interest to every woman in Los Angeles.

"Fresh Air" Oven Gas Ranges

The Gas Range Supreme

The great enthusiasm of each housewife who has seen this latest improved Eclipse gas range pictured above is sufficient proof of the superiority of these stoves. They are finished in full, lustrous white and pearl gray enamel. Top grates, burners, end shelves, range front and legs are all finished in pearl gray. Ovens and inside of oven doors are lined with rust-resistant "Cop-ro" oven linings. Some of the other exclusive features are:

1. Eclipse Patented Automatic Oven Control. Simply put baking or roasts in the oven, set the control and you are free until the cooking is done. No waiting or watching.
2. Eclipse Patented Ventilated Oven. Only fresh, hot air circulates in the oven, assuring better flavor, 4% to 8% less shrinkage, and even temperature at less cost.
3. Eclipse Patented Top Burner. This burner, by a unique system of air circulation, assures complete combustion of gas under every cooking condition.
4. Eclipse Patented Three Split Orifice Cock. Assures proper mixture of air and gas reaching burner. This saves waste gas, which means economy.

There are so many styles and sizes of Eclipse gas ranges, that no matter what your particular need, you are sure to find an Eclipse that will fulfill it, at the Los Angeles Furniture Company.

—No good gas range can be made to sell for less than the lowest priced Eclipse. We feel confident that no range, no matter what the price, excels the full enameled, full nickeled Automatic Oven Control Eclipse Gas Ranges.

—Every Eclipse range has Roper Basic Quality throughout, both in material and workmanship. You will find it well worth your while to see the Eclipse—at The Los Angeles Furniture Company—before you buy any gas range at any price.

Come out to the great SOUTHWEST DISTRICT, the most rapidly growing section of this city and running through the center of this great district you will find the greatest street in the world—is today going through the most wonderful growth of any street in Los Angeles, on no street in this country is there the activity there is on Vermont avenue. Property values are advancing more rapidly, more large buildings are under construction and more being planned for construction in the near future on this street than on any other street in California today. Los Angeles business district is rapidly advancing in the direction of Vermont avenue, and will in the future lie along this street. It is the main artery running north and south from the mountains to the sea.

A movement is now under way to widen the north end of this street, frontage and rights of way are now being secured from Manchester to the Harbor, this work will soon be completed and Vermont will then be paved from the mountains to the great harbor of San Pedro, and when this is done Vermont avenue will be the most wonderful street in this or any other city. A trip over the south end will open the eyes of even the old-timers, new buildings everywhere. A new bank will be built at Washington and Vermont, large improvements are now under way at Jefferson, ten stores and large moving picture house and other improvements just started, including $100,000 school building at Santa Barbara ave.

Large public market, moving picture theater and other improvements costing over $200,000 now under way at Vernon ave. Some activity here. New bank building and many others ready to start at 54th st. Many improvements now under way at 59th st., including $300,000 high school, a large public market, many stores and large moving picture theater, something doing here. A $40,000 picture house starting soon on Vermont ave., below Florence ave., and many more too numerous to mention will be started soon on this great street.

TWO MILLION.

dollars would not cover the cost of new buildings under way in a few short blocks. Thousands of dollars have been made in the last few weeks on Vermont ave., in the last 30 days as high as $3000 profit has been made and it is just starting. On no other street is there the sure quick profit to be made. Lots are yet cheap, investors should look this street over, wonderful chances here.

Los Angeles is destined to become one of our largest cities. Property values will never be lower than they are now. Vermont ave. is the one sure quick profit street. Look it over, invest, hold for future profit, or build; business is here, more coming. Take a ride down Vermont ave. and look over this GREAT SOUTHWEST DISTRICT, then you will want to invest your spare money here, where big profits look certain.

SEE, CALL OR PHONE any of the following, reliable live real estate operators. They will gladly give you all information regarding prices and values on this great thoroughfare and show you over the GREAT SOUTHWEST DISTRICT.

FOR SALE— $35,000.

A palatial home, could not be duplicated for less than $50,000.

The architecture of this magnificent house, from the standpoint of beauty and construction, is not surpassed in the city of Los Angeles. There are fourteen rooms, three baths, seven fireplaces (pressed brick, tile and stone,) heating plant, triple garage, etc., but all the details of a first-class home are just commonplace when the inside plan and unique features of this home are taken into consideration.

Imagine stepping into a wonderful living room, completely paneled and exposing probably the finest cathedral ceiling in the city. Also consider the pride and comfort to be had in possessing a library occupying an entire wing of the building, finished in hardwood and shelved to accommodate thousands of volumes.

We have simply touched on some of the features which make this property a wonderful buy for any person seeking a home of this class in that portion of the city, selected by the most prominent people for their place of permanent residence.

The house is located at the northeast corner of 28th St. and Orchard Ave., and the lot size is 104 ft. front by 141 ft. deep. Open daily for inspection.

Want 1-3 or more in cash or liberty bonds or take gilt edge clear property any locality up to $20,000, balance mortgage.

Four 5-room flats and duplex 7 and 8 rooms. No better constructed buildings in Los Angeles and they contain every modern detail. Built-in beds, book cases, buffets, cabinet kitchens, oak floors, screened porches, furnace and gas radiators. All large rooms. Front plate glass windows. Garages.

Lot 100x150, worth $15,000, furnishings of 7-rooms worth about $3500, buildings about $32,500.

NOTE
Bank and stores going up across street. This business center assures rapid increase of ground values and good rentals and beats buying in a purely flat district, where the lot will never be worth any more and building deteriorating daily. This ground will be worth $30,000 in three years.

Keen judgment buys where there is real reason for increase in values. Why make a dying investment.

Please don't bother tenants, as interior will be shown by appointment only.

$44,000 RANCH FOR $21,000

$1000 Commission to Brokers

Be quick—Must be sold
You will never have this chance again

320 ACRES—300 SHARES WATER

240 acres under cultivation. 210 acres in barley, 30 acres in alfalfa pasture, good house, tank, reservoirs, fencing. Splendid soil; you won't see 100 square feet of alkali on the entire 320 acres. Soil excellent for alfalfa, grains, garden truck, corn, grapes, grape fruit, etc. One of the prettiest vineyards and citrus orchards you ever saw, only few yards from this ranch.

Legal: North ½ of Section Eight, Township 11 South, Range 14 East. Only ½ mile west from town of Niland which has fine stores, hotel, bank, schools, railroad junction between main line of S. P. and E. B. to Imperial Valley points.

NOTE

Owner paid $48,000 for this ranch, but on account of private affairs this ranch must be sold and it takes only $7,000 cash as ranch has a first mortgage of $14,000 at 7 per cent long time to run. This mortgage represents a genuine loan made by Whittier man and at same time as loan was placed, a Bank offered $12,500 and later agreed to increase the amount but owner had already accepted the $14,000. This bank appraised the 320 acres at $36,000 and their appraisements mean only for the actual value of the land and water stock. They don't figure much for the improvements or work done in preparing the land as these features can be neglected and so the ranch has only the value of raw land and water supply.

NOTE PARTICULARLY

It costs $50 an acre to clear, level, check and border and get the land ready for irrigation and the 240 acres which has all of this would therefore cost $12,000, add to this the price of raw land with 300 shares water at only $100 an acre, makes a total of $44,000, to say nothing of the cattle fencing, and part hog tight, good house, and other improvements which would cost at least $7500. Ranch has good responsible tenant who owns 25 cows, 20 horses, tractor, implements, hundreds of turkeys, ducks, chickens and fine improved 60 acre ranch across road from this 320; but possession can be had, however tenant wants to remain as long as you will let him.

FOR SALE—

$44,000 RANCH FOR $21,000.

$1000 Commission to Brokers.

Be quick—Must be sold.
You will never have this chance again.

320 ACRES—300 SHARES WATER.

240 acres under cultivation. 210 acres in barley, 30 acres in alfalfa pasture, good house, tank, reservoirs, fencing. Splendid soil; you won't see 100 sq. feet of alkali on the entire 320 acres. Soil excellent for alfalfa, grains, garden truck, corn, grapes, grapefruit, etc. One of the prettiest vineyards and citrus orchards you ever saw, only few yards from this ranch.

Legal: North ½ of Sec. 8, Township 11 South, Range 14 East. Only ½ mile west from town of Niland, which has fine stores, hotel, bank, schools, railroad junction between main line of S. P. and R.R. to Imperial Valley points.

NOTE.

Owner paid $48,000 for this ranch, but on account of private affairs this ranch must be sold and it takes only $7000 cash as ranch has a first mortgage of $14,000 at 7 per cent long time to run. This mortgage represents a genuine loan made by Whittier man and at same time as loan was placed, bank offered $12,500 and later agreed to increase the amount but owner had already accepted the $14,000. This bank appraised the 320 acres at $36,000 and their appraisements mean only for the actual value of the land and water stock. They don't figure ranch for the improvements or work done in preparing the land as these features can be neglected and so the ranch has only the value of raw land and water supply.

NOTE PARTICULARLY.

It costs $50 an acre to clear, level, check and border and get the land ready for irrigation, and the 240 acres which has all of this would therefore cost $12,000, add to this the price of raw land with 300 shares water at only $100 an acre, make a total of $44,000, to say nothing of the cattle fencing and part hog tight, good house, and other improvements which would cost at least $7500. Ranch has good responsible tenant who owns 25 cows, 20 horses, tractor, implements, hundreds of turkeys, ducks, chickens and fine improved 60-acre ranch across road from this 320; but possession can be had, however, tenant wants to remain as long as you will let him.

READ ALL THESE OIL "ADS," THEN COME BACK TO THIS AND THINK.
If you know enough about the oil business to have any business putting any REAL money into it, you know Breckenridge Texas Pool leads mid-continent production—has ever since its discovery—and will for some time to come. Right in gusher territory we are selling undivided interests in a proven Breckenridge oil deal—bought before the sensational rise in crude. Drilling well now; 3 to 7 more. We are dividing ½ the production on this property on a basis of its actual oil worth before the late rise. Worth twice as much now. As we said before, look over the rest of these ads, see what they're asking. Then come back to this. Now, if you know oil values and have $500 or more to put in a REAL oil deal, you WILL THINK and let us hear from you. Address O, box 484, TIMES BRANCH.

VALENCIA

GROVES.

The finest and the best 20.4 acre orange grove that stands on "God's" footstool. The foregoing is rather a broad statement, but when I can produce figures which will show its financial power it must of necessity mean that I can show you something worthy of consideration. If you are a citrus man the big trees, so radiant in health, thrifty in appearance, with an exceptionally heavy setting for next bearing, will impress you. Every inch of soil is absolutely the best in Orange county. I have personally inspected this grove, and have failed to find a weak feature attached to this splendid acreage. This grove will show an earning power of over $1000 an acre for this year. Then there is its wonderful location to be considered, only three blocks from the new postoffice near the new city park, a block and a half from the Park View tract, with the church on one street and the High School on the other, with a frontage on three streets. Just think what this will mean in a very short time. Can't you as a business man see the subdivision possibilities connected with this. The only reason this opportunity is offered is due to the fact that one of the owners is desirous of returning East. You can purchase this wonderful grove at a very reasonable price. Just fumigated.

5 acres of 5-year-old Valencias that would do your heart good to see. The trees have an exceptionally heavy setting for next year, with every indication of sizing up well. Soil conditions fine. This grove is all piped. There is a nice home, all modern, with garage, which makes this proposition exceptionally attractive. We doubt if there is another 5 acres which can compare with this. Anyone purchasing this beautiful grove will feel greatly satisfied, especially when the fruit colors up. Better look into this before it is too late.

Located 1737 to 1745 W. Adams St.

Want 1-3 or more in cash or Liberty Bonds; or take gilt-edge clear property, any locality, up to $20,000; balance mortgage.

Lot 100x150, worth $15,000; furnishings of 7 rooms worth about $3500; buildings about $32,500.

NOTE

Bank and stores going up across street. This business center assures rapid increase of ground values and good rentals and beats buying in a purely flat district, where the lot will never be worth any more and building deteriorating daily. This ground will be worth $30,000 in three years.

Keen judgment buys where there is real reason for increase in values. Why make a dying investment?

Please don't bother tenants, as interior will be shown by appointment only.

MINES AND MINING.

OIL SHORTAGE IS INCREASING.

No better investment can be made now than test holes in new territory. The country needs all the oil you can find, and you have a safe and sure market.

Don't resort to old-fashioned methods of drilling, with large and expensive machinery. Never forget the cost of a hole increases in the approximate proportion to the "square of its diameter."

So drill small-diameter holes with the latest and most efficient portable machine ever built for territories from 800 to 2500 feet deep. Write for particulars and circulars.

ARE you looking for a chance to buy an established business that you can own yourself, that will pay 25 to 35 per cent net on the amount invested, and which can be increased? A light, enjoyable business that would not require your constant attention. Could be handled either by use of auto or street car.

A California corporation which intends in the future to manufacture only, makes this opportunity possible by disposing of its established business, which is located in Los Angeles and surrounding towns and cities, and is and has for years past paid big profits to the corporation. You can buy a part or all of the Los Angeles business, or that part of it located in Long Beach, Venice, Ocean Park or Riverside. Any part of it is good. You can invest $1000 to $10,000, according to the size of that portion of the business and in the locality which would interest you most. This business is absolutely sure and certain, has been tried for years and proven. If you will investigate we can prove to you that there is no element of chance in connection with this business, simply a sure and steady income from an established business and your returns in proportion to the size of your investment. We can furnish the best of bank and trade references. For further particulars address Y, box 160, TIMES OFFICE.

YOUR FIRST DIVIDEND—
We know for a certainty that men will take longer chances in buying a business in Los Angeles than they would in possibly any other city in the United States. The reason for this is because they want to live here, and after they have wandered around for several weeks or months looking for something that appeals to them and have been unsuccessful, they become desperate and take a chance at what looks like the best of a poor assortment. In all probability what they select is new to them, and where is the man who can look into the future and avoid the mistakes that are almost sure to happen to the man in a new line in a strange city. We believe we are qualified to give valuable advice, gained from many years' experience handling almost every conceivable line of business. If you are a prospective investor, it will be a pleasure to talk with you, and it might not only be the means of preventing you from making a poor investment, but might aid you in getting into a business which will, at an early date, pay you your first dividend.

WON'T LEAVE WORK.

Japanese Mortality Rate Lower in Silk-Worm Season, it is Said.

There are many reasons for death. But it is a remarkable thing that during the silkworm rearing time in the silk districts, even the sickest people, contrary to all expectation, do not die. The rate of death among old people and busiest season is very low indeed.

What is the reason? Well, most of these people unconsciously think, "Well, if I die now, everyone will be very much upset because I do not finish my work, and if I die, I too will be very much upset in the other world because no one here will have time to give me a good funeral, and to see that I am properly and comfortably buried. So I guess I had better live just a bit longer." And remarkable to relate they do go on living. The will to live makes them bear the ills of living and they do not die during the growing seasons.

But after the transfer of the matured silkworms to the cocoon beds, for ten days there are people dying everywhere. That is strange, too. But really it is because the spirit no longer holds them up. The excitement is over, and with rest comes death; the time of anxiety is over and the strain is loosened, and with the loosening comes the end of life.

In the silk regions there are not many deaths in either the extremely hot or the extremely cold times. But just after the silkworms are transferred to the cocoon beds, after the strenuous days of rearing them from the egg are over, then they die like flies in winter. It is all a matter of spirit, or as some would call it, "mind."—[Japan Advertiser.

WINNING A PRINCESS.

Young Mr. Leeds Won Her Without Sword Play.

Those of us who read light fiction are accustomed to marriages between young Americans and European princesses.

Such alliances are usually contracted after a regular round of fist fights, duels, kidnapings, motor races and the stealing of important documents after the Yankee has impressed Boobitania, if not all of Europe, with his physical prowess, mental activity and great wealth.

Young Mr. Leeds, who married his princess, won her without sword play, without knocking out a single Count, without outwitting a Prime Minister. He would not do for a book at all.

He is a rather shy youth who might now be in college if his father had not left some thirty millions.

It was the father, really, who had the adventures that fiction deals with; the rise from failure in a small Middle West town to the possession of fortune and power.

If a son should result from the union of the American youth and the Princess Xenia, he will find his grandfather's history livelier reading than his father's.—[New York Herald.

Judge Jean H. Norris tells the funniest story of domestic difficulties. Here it is:

In the tragedy of misunderstandings it is a relief to run across a case that is strictly humorous. Entertainment of this sort was furnished in one instance by a husband, arraigned for non-support, who declared that he left home because he had been given dog biscuit for breakfast.

"That ain't no foundation for a hard day's work!" he complained. "I always have oatmeal porridge in the morning, but that pup was sick and wouldn't eat his regular fare. So the missus gives him my porridge, and then breaks up his biscuit and tried to pass it on to me as fancy breakfast food. Wasn't that enough to make any man leave home?"

Asked if she liked the dog better than she did her husband, the woman burst into a pean of praise for her spouse.

"The dog's a delicate little thing and awfully fussy about his food," she explained. "I thought if the dog biscuits didn't hurt him certainly wouldn't hurt a strong man like James."

The trouble ended in a complete reconciliation.—[Exchange.

AMERICANS IN GERMANY HIT.

Manufacturing Plants May be Forced to Close.

Being Held Up on Prices of Raw Materials.

Germans Refuse to Deliver at Contract Figures.

[BY A. P. CORRESPONDENCE.]

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—Some Americans in business in Germany say that the continued depreciation of German and Austrian money threatens to force American branch manufacturing plants and distributing houses in the two countries to close or operate at a heavy loss in the hope that conditions shortly will improve.

A number of small German businesses, principally dependent on importations of raw materials, also are facing a crisis and to avoid bankruptcy, which they see five or six months distant when the exhaustion of reserve funds and stocks has been completed, are seeking to consolidate with larger, more firmly established institutions.

CANNOT FILL ORDERS.

The American manufacturing concerns dependent on German raw materials are faced with the peculiar situation of having huge outstanding orders in adjacent countries which they are unable to fill because the Germans insist on delivering raw material at current prices, more than double in marks the prices at which the material was contracted for, and which would make impossible the filling of outstanding orders at a profit.

Insistence by the foreign concerns on delivery at contracted prices has been without avail, protestations either being ignored or the foreigners being frankly told that such procedure would almost immediately bankrupt the German firms, in view of the recent depreciation of the mark.

CONTRACTS NOW IMPOSSIBLE.

American distributing houses also are embarrassed by the fact they have large contracts to fill at prices based on previous values of the falling mark.

"To make the situation worse, certain German interests have started a cutthroat competition to secure and hold the export trade in manufactured articles, which has enormously increased within the last few months," the representative of an American branch manufacturing plant said. "This competition fails to take into consideration the fundamental proposition that funds must be set aside for depreciation but is based almost solely on the desire for immediate profits. The unavoidable consequence will be that within six months or so these firms will face the necessity of repairs or improvements, without money to pay, unless the capital stock is drawn upon. Such a condition cannot long continue, unless there is a substantial improvement in Germany money."

CLAIM BANKRUPTCY NEAR.

Industrialists hardest hit by the conditions have again resorted to the argument that the nation will be bankrupted if the Entente insists on collection of future indemnities in sums agreed upon and in this connection point to the damage done economic Germany by the payment of the last 1,000,000,000 marks gold, which cost approximately 53,000,000,000 paper marks and was credited with forcing the value of the mark down a score of points.

The efforts of the government and the big bankers to agree upon a method of raising the next 1,000,000,000 gold marks, and the evident willingness of the bankers to stand by the government, are discounted by these financiers, some of whom profess to hope the reparations commission will decide full payment is impossible without disrupting the economic situation of Europe and accept part payment.

In the meantime discussions between the bankers and the government's economic experts have been continuing behind locked doors.

EXHUME BODY OF MAN OF MYSTERY.

RESULT OF SEARLES AUTOPSY SECRET ANALYSIS OF ORGANS PLANNED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LAWRENCE (Mass.) Oct. 28.—An autopsy was performed yesterday on the body of Edward F. Searles, multimillionaire and man of mystery, exhumed this morning from its resting place in the private crypt on the Searles estate in Methuen. The findings of the autopsy were not disclosed tonight. Some of the organs were sent to Boston for chemical analysis.

The exhumation and autopsy came as aftermath to charges by counsel for Albert V. Searles, a nephew, that the will of the recluse was procured by a plot, and anonymous charges that the old man had died by poison.

He left an estate variously estimated at from $14,000,000 to $40,000,000. Arthur T. Walker of New York, a clerk, was the principal beneficiary.

FINDS CAPTAIN OF MISSING VESSEL.

[A. P. FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.]

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 7.—The Danish government in April appropriated 200,000 kroner to defray the expense of sending the ship, Teddy, to the east coast of Greenland to search for the East Greenland Trading Company's ship Dagny which had been dispatched from Copenhagen in the spring of 1920. Since then, nothing had been heard of her.

A cablegram from Akreyri, Iceland, reports the safe arrival there of the Teddy. On July 17 she observed a distress signal on Walrus Island and sent a party across the ice to investigate. They discovered the Dagny's captain, Hansen, at Germanishaven station.

It appears that the Dagny became iceblocked on Aug. 8, 1920, thirty miles east of the Shannon Islands. Part of the crew had previously landed at some newly established stations, and the remainder had reached land on an ice floe.

Before they were rescued by the Teddy, however, three of them perished, two succombing to scurvy and the third being killed in an encounter with a polar bear. The Teddy, herself, was icebound from August 24 to September 2.

RENTS IN SHANGHAI WILL REMAIN HIGH.

[BY A. P. CORRESPONDENCE.]

SHANGHAI, Sept. 8.—Hopes of effecting any reduction of inordinately high rents in Shanghai through legislative action have been dashed by an announcement of the Municipal Council holding that the council has no power to act on the question.

This announcement was made in response to various proposals that have been made in recent months urging compulsory limitation of rental charges.

"It would appear," says the announcement, "that the remedy, sooner or later lies in the operation of the law of supply and demand, since if rentals are so high as to make building operations unduly profitable, the building of more houses will be speedily included until the supply is equal to or overtakes the demand."

"At the end of that time," she declared, "I think we shall find a place in Paris, Gloria and I."

Mrs. Caruso was heavily veiled in black, with a coat of broad tail and a cane. She was white faced and unsmiling as she greeted Bruno Zirato, her late husband's secretary, and Romayne Benjamin, her brother.

Park Benjamin, Sr., father of Mrs. Caruso, did not meet his daughter. The estrangement over her marriage to the singer showed no signs of healing today. Mrs. Caruso went direct from the pier to the Hotel St. Regis.

JAP CROWN PRINCE IS GIVEN SCOLDING.

TOKIO, Sept. 7.—Commander Yamamoto, naval attache to Crown Prince Hirohito during his recent tour, tells the story that one day the Crown Prince attempted to travel by the Paris subway incognito. When he was asked by one of the wicket officers to show his ticket, His Imperial Highness attempted to get his ticket checked keeping the corner of the ticket in his own hand as he held it out to the wicket officer. The latter, more or less annoyed, said to the Prince: "Why must you hold your ticket in your hand like that?" Commander Yamamoto said:

"This incident seems to have made a strong impression on the mind of the Crown Prince for when I saw him yesterday at Nikko, he turned to me and remarked with a smile: 'For the first time in my life, Commander, I was scolded. Do you remember?'"

At an odd moment he drew a picture of Ida Lippman, woman police officer, who happened to be sitting next to him. He slipped it into her hand. It was a profile view. Miss Lippman immediately took Hilliar to jail.

Before Judge John Faust the artist said he often made sketches of persons he saw about him and that occasionally he gave the sketches to the involuntary models.

"I meant no harm," Hilliar said; "I thought she might like the picture."—[Detroit News.

LOS ANGELES THIRTY-SIX YEARS AGO AND LOS ANGELES TODAY.

BY DR. EMANUEL SCHREIBER.

No age has been swayed by such ardent desire for knowledge as ours. Carried along irresistibly by this craving and yearning, we have explored the highest and the lowest, have traversed the immensities of celestial space, have lifted the veil from the countenance of nature and wrenched from her many a secret of her work and workings. As a result we have become skeptics. With the exception of a few old women and feminine men we have ceased to believe in miracles, so far as they presuppose a supernatural break in the laws of nature. We are all more or less Missourians. "Seeing is believing" is the slogan of the twentieth century.

I came here thirty-six years ago. Los Angeles was just emerging from its character as an overgrown Mexican village. Its population was a trifle over 40,000 inhabitants. More than half of them were Mexicans, whose motto was "manana" (tomorrow)—i.e., postpone everything. The Santa Fe just then entered Los Angeles and made things hum. Suppose I had then said to my friends: "In less than four decades Los Angeles will be a city of at least 600,000 inhabitants, the majority of whom will be composed of the shrewdest, most far-sighted, enterprising, energetic and progressive men of the United States, by far outstripping proud and haughty San Francisco." Why, they who spoke of the Bay City as "the city" would have looked at me with pity, as a man devoid of good common sense. A friend who lived within a block of my residence, on Charity street (now Grand avenue,) between Sixth and Seventh streets, where, when the rainy season commenced, the mud was knee deep, told me that he could have bought the whole property on Sixth street between Olive and Figueroa streets for $1200. To my question as to why he, an old settler who had lived here more than twenty-five years and was financially able to purchase the property, did not invest, he naively answered: "I never thought I would stay here, but would move to the city," meaning, of course, San Francisco. Suppose I had told him that in forty years this property would be worth $12,000,000? Tableau!

OLD LOS ANGELES.

From the Plaza to the Temple block was the main business of the town done. The Pico Hotel, named in honor of Gov. Pico, a Mexican, was the leading hostelry. In this section was the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank, founded by Mark W. Hellman. This bank is now on the corner of Main and Fourth streets, where Helen Hellman's beautiful mansion was located. There was the winery of Michael Levy, who told me that he sent tens of thousands of barrels of California wines to France to be sent back to this country as French Burgundy, as French Burgundy and other wines are sold for five times the price of California wines. There were the big clothing houses of L. Harris (now Harris & Frank,) Jacoby Bros., the City of Paris, Coulter's and The People's Store (Hamburger's.) The wholesale grocery houses of Hellman, Haas & Baruch and Newmark & Co. were located on Los Angeles street between the Plaza and First street. What is now Broadway was then Fort street, a very insignificant thoroughfare. How little property there was valued can be seen by the following fact: Where the City Hall now stands, between Second and Third streets, was the Synagogue. This property (not less than fifty feet, but perhaps more) was purchased by Joseph Newmark, the pioneer of the family, for $1100. I doubt whether today a foot in this section, if for sale, could be bought for $3000. It was Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, editor and proprietor of the Los Angeles Times, who was sufficiently far-sighted to see the future of Fort street. By his investment and construction of The Times Building, corner of First and Fort streets, then the highest business block of Los Angeles, he made South Broadway what it is today, the leading business thoroughfare west of Chicago, just as his son-in-law, Harry Chandler, succeeded in making The Times the leading newspaper west of Chicago.

When, two years after my arrival here, the Hollenbeck Hotel, corner of Spring and Second streets, was erected, people were surprised to see such a tall building. At the corner of Olive and Sixth streets was a young ladies' seminary where I was teaching Latin, Greek, French and German. This was considered about the end of the residence section toward the west. Hollywood did not exist. Neither did Venice nor Ocean Park. Santa Monica had a few, very few shanties. The Arcadia Hotel, a wooden structure, was just being built. Long Beach and Redondo Beach were villages for fishermen.

IN OTHER LINES.

To say a word about the remarkable, astounding development of the manufacture and industry of Los Angeles is not in my line, as it would smack of an intention to advertise it. Suffice to say that the old slander, so frequently indulged in by the foes of our city, namely that all she can offer is climate and oranges, is slowly but surely being silenced. Climate and citrus fruit alone cannot make, within less than four decades, out of a Mexican village, a city of 600,000 people. There are Florida and other States which possess climate and citrus fruit. Yet there is no other city ranking third after New York and Chicago in the matter of building.

The space generally allowed for a single article makes it impossible for me even to touch on the park system, the street car system, the motion-picture industry (perhaps the greatest asset of this progressive commonwealth) and last, but not least, the educational system. But, as one who has seen Los Angeles thirty-six years ago and knows its evolution, I can conscientiously say that the so-called boomers and boosters, who always had the strongest faith in our future, even in the face of stern vicissitude, disappointment and obstacles, were right. The sneers and jeers of San Francisco were not justified. In Los Angeles, which is the miracle of modern times, is literally fulfilled what the prophet Isaiah said: I (God) shall make out of the wilderness a garden of God," and what the Psalmist sang: The stone which the builders rejected hath become the chief corner-stone. This hath been done by God, although it is a miracle in our eyes.

After the big fire in Chicago, half a century ago, a real estate man claimed that Chicago would become, by the end of the nineteenth century, a city of 500,000 inhabitants. When, at the period predicted by him, he was about to die, and Chicago had more than 1,000,000 population, he told his friends, gathered at his death bed: "I always thought I lied about Chicago's future population. I am only sorry that I did not lie enough."

Then let our boomers here not be discouraged in their claims that this town will, in the not distant future have 1,000,000 inhabitants. From the things already accomplished we may gather the cheering promise of still greater things yet to come.

WEEKLY FINANCIAL REVIEW.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Cancellation of the railroad strike order by unanimous vote of the union organizations was the one important event of the week in the financial district. The stock market responded to this announcement, however, with moderate enthusiasm.

From the inception of the controversy, Wall street believed the differences would be adjusted. This feeling was heightened when it became known that the Railroad Labor Board had declared the proposed walkout illegal. Industrial conditions affecting the steel and iron trade were featured by the quarterly reports of the United States Steel and Bethlehem Steel corporations, the former failing to earn any of its common dividend and not all of the preferred. In both cases, however, the returns indicated gradual recovery from low ebb.

Currency was given to rumors that mergers of various steel, equipment, motor and oil companies were under way. These were true in the sense that some sort of a deal seems impending between Pullman and Haskell and Barker, and that several Pacific Coast oil properties are likely to be absorbed by influential interests.

The movement in domestic oils, especially those located in California, was the most conspicuous feature. Dealings in those shares at substantial gains exceeded in the aggregate the trading in all other issues.

Brokers' loans showed further reductions and commercial demands again were limited to seasonal requirements. Despite these conservative influences and the further piling up of reserves by Federal banks, the money market gave little promise of immediate relaxation.

British and foremost Continental exchanges reacted from last week's rally and Central and Eastern European remittances yielded to fresh political and economic disturbances. Reports that the entire system of German reparations is to undergo radical revision probably have their basis in the fact that Germany's next indemnity payments are to take the form of raw materials, chiefly coal and structural steel.

MAN WHO DISCOVERED SUGAR FRAUDS DEAD.

RICHARD PARR DETECTED WIRE DEVICE WHICH PERMITTED HUGE THEFTS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Richard Parr, who, as special agent of the Department of Justice, discovered the sugar frauds at this port in 1909, died today at the home of his brother, Harry Parr, in Riverside Drive, this city. Parr detected a wire device by which scales used in the weighing of sugar on wharves as it was unloaded from steamers were manipulated so as to make the apparent weight less than the real.

On the evidence collected by Parr, the government sued refiners and recovered $3,500,000. Charles R. Heike, secretary of the American Sugar Refinery Company, was found guilty of conspiracy and sentenced to eight months' imprisonment and a fine of $5000. Parr received $100,000 from the government for his work and was made deputy surveyor of the port. He retired about three years ago, after unearthing several notable smuggling cases. His widow and two children survive. He was 56 years old.

NAVY NOTES.

E. P. Amy, boatswain's mate, first-class, and R. W. Wells, seaman, both of the dreadnaught Mississippi, brought added glory to their ship and to the Pacific Fleet by their prowess with the rifle at the National Rifle Match, held recently at Camp Perry, O. The men came back with the honor of being the second and third best shots, respectively, in the United States. First place in the national match was won by Lieut. Wierbowski, also of the navy, scoring 325 out of a possible 350. More than 1500 men, representing the Army, Navy and Marine Corps, competed in the match.

A large painting of the old steam frigate Mississippi, depicting her when she was caught in a typhoon on October 7, 1864, while on her way from Simoda, Japan, to the Sandwich Islands, has been presented to the dreadnaught Mississippi by the commandant of the navy yard at Boston. The later, in an official report to the Secretary of the Navy, declared that "the new Mississippi is the most appropriate of all places for the picture of the old Mississippi," and it was accordingly forwarded to the Pacific Coast, where it hangs in a place of honor in the crew's reception room.

Much curiosity is developing among the enlisted personnel of the battle fleet over the plans for the Nevada's forthcoming smoker. No date has been decided upon as yet, and details are being kept secret, but the men of the other ships know there is something unusually good in store for them because of the fine reputation of the "Cheer Up Ship," as the Nevada is known, in the matter of hospitality. All eyes are on Chaplain J. H. Finn.

Ensign Nelson Hogan has been detached from the cruiser Frederick, fleet train flagship, following revocation of his appointment as ensign.

Lieut. Richard P. Jenkins has been detached from the U.S.S. Denver and assigned to service with the destroyer squadrons of the Pacific Fleet.

Lieut. Joseph Bichalter has been detached from the dreadnaught Texas of the Pacific Fleet, and ordered to duty in the Sixteenth Naval District.

Ensign Raymond A. McLelland has been ordered to duty aboard the U.S.S. Vestal, fleet repair ship. He was formerly connected with the office of the Fifth Naval District.

Lieut. Emmet M. Wanner has been detached from the U.S. cruiser Denver and ordered to report for duty aboard the Mississippi.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIRS,
WARTS AND MOLES.

Pulling a few stiff hairs from the face may start a serious growth. Let me demonstrate free of charge how pulling, cutting, using wax depilatories and the so-called hair removers promote growth of hair on the face. My electric machine is the only known method of killing superfluous hair, fuzz, warts and moles without destroying the surrounding tissue. This machine destroys 300 hairs an hour. I have had 24 years' experience and devote all my time to the work. A binding guarantee that any hairs or moles I treat will never return. Many L. A. satisfied customers will testify to my skill as an expert. Work done at your home by appointment.

MRS. F. A. SCOTT,
Suite 407 Bumiller Bldg.
430 S. Broadway.

PERSONAL—"A WEAK SPINE."
A deformed, rigid and weak spine is the cause of many internal afflictions; it is manifested by wry neck, unevenly drooped and stooping shoulders, protruding shoulder-blade, sway back, one high hip seemingly due to a short leg; even difficulties of the lower limbs, joints and the feet are due to such weakness, a drawing pain especially in the lower back is symptomatic. Little endurance by helping nature's efforts to restore, will strengthen and straighten your spine. I will help and advise you how to do it. GARLAND BLDG., ROOM 511, 740 S. Broadway. Phone 61605.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR, moles, warts, permanently removed by electricity without leaving scars. Eyebrows arched. Satisfactory work guaranteed. Depilatories and other so-called hair removing methods are expensive and worthless because they are only temporary. The only permanent relief is Electrolysis, which kills the roots of hair. My latest multiple needle machine removes 360 hairs an hour. I give my personal attention to every case; $1 per hour per needle. Free trial treatment. Years of experience. MRS. BARTON, Electrolysis Expert, 522 Black Bldg., 4th and Hill. Phone 13213.

to anyone, whoever SAW the primary CAUSE of any EFFECTS. If you have brains prove it. THINK, did you ever see electricity, gravity, life, love, intelligence, habit? (Study each one!) What forces cause health, happiness, success, failure, sorrow, age, sickness, or death? How much do you know about the laws that govern them? If you understand them ALL you could then govern them (like electricity) and so cause any desired effects—then why not learn them now—practical wisdom is priceless—the best investment on earth pays the biggest and surest dividend. I can put you through it all in ten weeks, and instruction only guarantee the result, individual instruction only. Only business people and those who can pass logical reason test (not education) will be accepted. Notice former tuition rates quoted are now double. Sign up now and take your turn. Sewing Machines.

FOR SALE—This ad is worth $1.00 to you on the purchase of any machine in our store. Cut it out and bring it with you. The first carload which we received from the North were about all sold the first two days. Friday we received another consignment with orders to sell them at any price the people were willing to pay. Just think of it! Some good ones as low as $5. It is a sin to sell them at 25 cents on the dollar, but we have no choice in the matter. Some barely scratched, and look just like new. Besides, a ten-year guarantee goes with every one of them. DON'T DELAY—DON'T WAIT—make up your mind right now and come in and get a good-as-new machine at your own price. Sale starts MONDAY MORNING.
